As you read the pages of our golden volume, the 1963 Wyo. We want you to realize that this book is dedicated to you, the students of the University of Wyoming. In this 50th edition we have tried to present every phase of student Life: A Look at the students-both the Debutantes and the Playboys, a bit of Regalite, and a record of our Sports. We hope that with the passage of Time this book will bring back golden memories of the University of Wyoming

18 YEARS AT U.W.

PRESIDENT
G.D. HUMPHREY

Humphrey Emphasizes Physical Plant

Progress tends to keynote the eighteen-year period which President G. D. Humphrey has served the University of Wyoming as its top official. During this time, twenty-eight additional buildings have been added to the campus. The faculty has increased fourfold and more than twice as many degrees have been granted. The student population was listed as 1,005 as opposed to 4,849 during the 1962-63 University year.

President Humphrey came in 1945 from Mississippi State College where he had served from the year 1934. He received his BA from Blue Mountain Collge, located at Blue Mountain, Mississippi, his MA from the University of Chicago, his Ph.D. at Ohio State University at Columbus, Ohio, and two honorary degrees from the University of Arizona and Ohio Wesleyan.

When alums return and exclaim at the tremendous growth of Wyoming's only University, we realize most fully how UW and our President conform completely to this ever-growing and improving nation.

President and Mrs. Humphrey with their son, Julius, and his wife, Mary Margaret, and grandchildren, Laurie Ann and George Duke II.

In Memoriam

Albert Lawrence Keeney, Dean of Men at the University of Wyoming, died February 3, 1963, in Eugene, Oregon. Dean Keeney had been on leave from the University since July 1962.

Born December 28, 1900 in Montour, Iowa, Keeney received his bachelor's degree in economics at the University of Wyoming and went on to Columbia University where he received his master's degree in 1935.

Before being appointed UW's Dean of Men in 1946, Keeney had served the Wyoming school system in various ways. In 1923 he began work as superintendent of schools and served in that capacity in Byron, Cumberland, Manderson, Osage, and Superior, for 23 years.

He was a member of the Board of Trustees of the University from 1943-46. During this period he was also Wyoming's representative on the National Council of Education.

Residing in Laramie with his wife and family, Keeney was active in various civic affairs. He was president of the Laramie Kiwanis Club in 1949, and in 1952 he was district governor of the organization.

During his career as an educator, Keeney had several articles published in national magazines. His radio addresses, entitled, "This is Our America," and "Our Foreign Policy", were printed in pamphlet form.

While Keeney served as UW's Dean of Men, he was a student counsellor, and Faculty Advisor to both Omicron Delta Kappa and Interfraternity Council. His interest in sports enabled him to serve as timekeeper at home football and basketball games.

Board of Trustees is Gubernatorially Appointed

Members sitting are Harold F. Newton, Mrs. Neil Bush, Secretary; L. W. "Jack" Jones, Vice President; John A. Reed, Treasurer; John F. Sullivan, Russell I. Laird, and Miss Tom Womack, Deputy Secretary.

The University of Wyoming, a state institution, is provided for by the State Constitution. The government of the university remains in the hands of the Board of Trustees which is appointed by the Governor with the consent of the Senate. Supported by the State of Wyoming and the United States, The Board determines the University's policies, approves all appointments, sets up the budget, and oversees all building construction.

The Administration

Deans of Women and Men Have Many Responsibilities

Miss E. Luella Galliver, Dean of Women, has served U W's campus for many years. Besides offering guidance and advice to all women students, Dean Galliver sponsors Spurs, Chimes, and Mortar Board, remains in close contact with A. W. S., Panhellenic Council, and all sorority and campus leaders. She oversees all sorority housemothers and dorm mothers in the fulfillment of their responsibilities.

With 24 years of teaching and supervision experience behind him, Richard E. Kinder filled the position made vacant by A. L. Keeney. Dean Kinder remains in constant contact with the leaders of I.F.C., Student Senate, Omicron Delta Kappa, leadership honorary, and fraternity and dormitory leaders. He is always willing to give council to those students seeking advice.

A 1962 addition to the University, David W. Buel serves in capacity of Director of Information and Special Services. Prior to his Wyoming job, Buel attained experience as newspaper reporter and public relations representative.

Since 1946, Robert H. Bruce has held the position of Dean of the Graduate School. Educated specifically in the fields of psychology and philosophy, Mr. Bruce has held professorships in the Universities of Texas, California, and Hawaii.

The University's Dean of Academic Affairs, John Chalmers, has been active in many special college and university programs on education. A relative newcomer to Wyoming, Dean Chalmers has served as a visiting economics professor to many Universities.

Charles Chase received his Bachelor's Degree in 1933 and his Master's Degree in 1937 at the University of Wyoming. He began his upward climb in the Admissions Office in 1949. Since then he has been appointed to the post of Supervisor of Admissions.

A familiar face in the counseling center is that of Dr. Harry Sharp. His background in psychology justifies his position as supervisor of the counseling Center and explains the innovations he has presented in that capacity.

R. E. McWhinnie, University Registrar, handles the direction of the huge process of registration of students each semester. His name is the first that freshmen come into contact with at the University. He received his Bachelor of Science degree at the University of Wyoming and his Master's Degree at Stanford in 1934.

Dick Brown, University of Wyoming Alumni Director, is a resident of Laramie although his hometown is Cheyenne. He graduated from the University in 1956 and has since served as Alumni Director.

Robert Prah was first hired for work on the University's buildings and grounds when he was in high school. He has served in various capacities since 1928, an interval broken only by service in the military.

A native of Laramie and graduate of Laramie High, Jim Crow attended the University of Wyoming. He assumed the position of Union Program Coordinator in 1959.

Director of the Union, Maurice Seeman, was first employed by the University in 1961. He previously attended South Dakota State College, where he directed a student Union and a men's dormitory.

Last summer, Dr. Ray Frantz was added to the University faculty as Head Librarian. He has had experience directing libraries of the Universities of Illinois, Richmond, and Ohio State.

Head of the botany department for 29 years, W. E. Solheim is now acting Dean of Arts and Sciences. Dean Solheim has been author and co-author of numerous scientific articles and he is a nationally known specialist on Rocky Mountain fungi. He is very interested and active in civic work. As an exponent of the city manager form of government, Solheim was instrumental in bringing it to Laramie.

College of Agriculture

Neal W. Hilston
Dean of Agriculture

In 1937 Dr. Neal W. Hilston was an emergency professor at the University of Wyoming. Eight years later he joined the faculty permanently for teaching and research work. In 1958 he was appointed Dean of Agriculture. Dr. Hilston has been the author of over 50 papers for popular and scientific publications and his accomplishments are recorded in numerous Who's Whos. Active in many organizations, Dean Hilston has held important offices in the American Society of Animal Production.

College of Engineering

H. T. Person
Dean of College of Engineering

Dean H. T. Person, of the college of Engineering, received his Bachelor of Science degree at South Dakota State in 1925, his Masters Degree at Iowa State in 1927, his Civil Engineering Degree at South Dakota State in 1931. He was appointed to the position of Dean of Engineering in 1948 and has headed that post ever since.

The program of the Engineering College of the University of Wyoming is organized and carried on under the following departments: Civil and architectural Engineering headed by A. J. McGaw, Electrical Engineering headed by Edward Lonsdale, Mechanical and Aironautical Engineering headed by Robert Sutherland, and Petroleum Engineering headed by Donald L. Stinson, all under the direction of H. T. Person and his assistant, R. Morgan.

All the departments of this college offer a four year Bachelor of Science degree in Engineering.

The college of engineering is housed in one of the largest buildings on campus. This building consists of a main hall, lecture and drafting rooms, and labs. Experiments carried on in these rooms lead the way for Engineers of tomorrow.

The College of Education

John A. Marvel, Dean of Education

Frank Kraus, Placement

The College of Education is a professional school whose purpose is to prepare students.

This College includes the Division of Undergraduate Teacher Education, the Division of Graduate Study, and the Division of Educational Services.

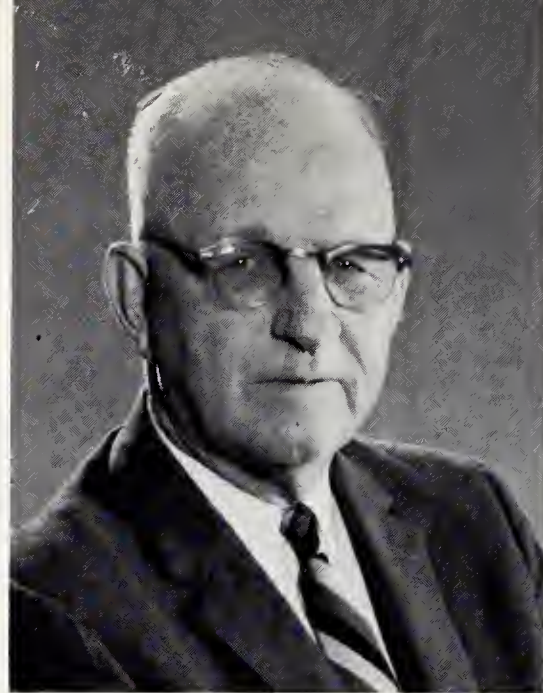

The Division of Undergraduate Teacher Education includes the foundation program required of all students who are candidates for undergraduate degrees in the College.

The Division of Graduate Study provides a foundation program for all students majoring in the seven areas of study offered by the College.

The Division of Educational Services includes Recruitment, Placement, Follow-up, the Curriculum and Research Center, and Personnel Services for the Extension division.

Dean of Education, John A. Marvel, assumed this post in 1962. He has been associated with the University since 1955.

He received his Bachelor's Degree at Northwestern State College in Oklahoma, his Master's Degree and his Doctorate in Education at the University of Oklahoma in Norman, Oklahoma.

College of Law Library

College of Law

Frank Trelease
Dean of the Law College

The University of Wyoming is fortunate to have an excellent law school which was founded in 1920. The aim of the College of Law is to provide thorough training that will equip the student to practice law in accordance with the highest professional standards. Although this college has a comparatively small enrollment it holds the highest standards of professional responsibility. The graduates of the Law College are approved by the American Bar Association.

The College of Law publishes the Wyoming Law Journal under auspices of the College and Wyoming State Bar.

This college is headed by Frank Trelease, who received his B.A. at the University of Colorado in 1937, and his L.L.B. in 1938 at the same institution. He has been a Professor of Law since 1945. In 1960 he was appointed to the position of Dean of the College of Law.

The College of Commerce and Industry

M. Clare Mundell, who has been Dean of the College since 1949, worked effectively for the construction of the new building.

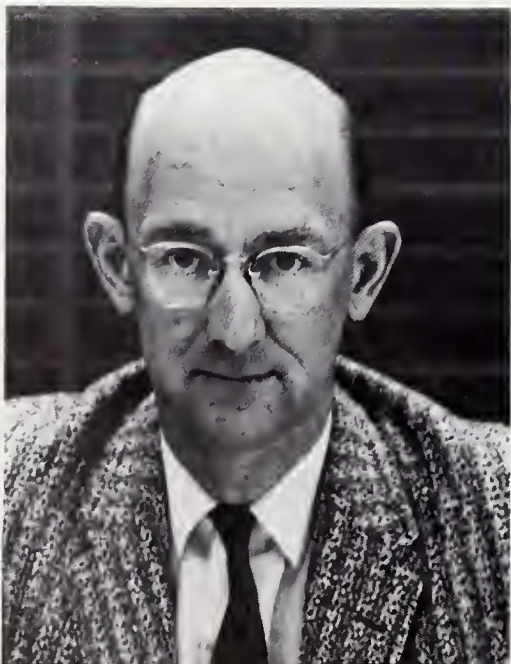

He received his Bachelor of Science Degree in 1928 and his Masters Degree in 1939 at the University of Wyoming. Mundell became a certified Public Accountant in the state of Wyoming the same year that he was appointed Dean

The College of Commerce and Industry is housed in one of the newest buildings on campus. Classes were started in this building at the beginning of Spring Semester of 1962.

The College includes four academic departments: Accounting, Business Administration, Secretarial Science and Statistics, as well as a Division of Business and Economic Research.

The dominant aspect of education for business is change — change in concepts and change in techniques. The aim of the College is to educate the future business leader. The approach is highly integrative and interdisciplinary. Courses in the College add directly to a foundation program in the College of Arts and Sciences. Specialization of the undergraduate level is kept within the general area of course concentration.

Amelia Leino
Dean of the College of Nursing

The College of Nursing

The College of Nursing was established in 1957 as a separate unit of the University, offering a pre-service professional nursing program in its educational system. It promotes three aims for students: first, to become professional practitioners of nursing, second, to enrich personal lives, and third, to prepare for effective citizenship.

This College is headed by Amelia Leino, who received her Nursing Diploma at the Cook County School of Nursing in 1934, her Bachelor of Science Degree at Columbia University in 1948, and her Masters Degree in 1955 at the same institution. Miss Leino became Dean of the Nursing College in 1957, the same year it was founded.

College of Pharmacy

The College of Pharmacy is located in Merica Hall and is a member of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy.

Since the time of its organization, this association has functioned continuously as an instrument for the improvement of pharmaceutical education in the United States. It strives to develop a good sense of responsibility in its students.

Dean O'Day has just changed the College from a four year to a five year program. Dean O'Day has been at the University since 1946; he became Dean in 1948. After receiving his Bachelor of Science in Pharmacy in 1926, he earned his Masters Degree in 1928 at the University of Colorado. He received his Ph.D. at Iowa State University in 1939.

THE CAMPUS

Old Main was called one of the "finest University buildings in America" when it was constructed in 1887 for 50,000 dollars. After an extensive improvement and expansion program started in 1948, this venerable building is now used for offices of administration.

When students arrived for the 62' fall semester, they were introduced to the new sight of Crane-Hill Hall, the recently completed men's dorm. This beautiful building is a part of the University's extensive construction program which has unveiled the appearance of the Nursing College, the Commerce and Industry Building, and Ross Hall, the new women's dorm.

This year a record number of students began the 1962-1963 school year by picking up class cards in the old Half Acre Gymnasium. That's where the old gave way to the new. New students; a record number. A new registration system; it works. And new buildings. They rank UW's physical plant among the most beautiful and most complete in the nation.

William Robertson Coe Library, named for its benefactor, was completed in 1958. This "million dollar" building contains 300,000 volumes, 700,000 documents, and 1,800 different periodicals, and can seat 1,000 students at one time.

Headquarters for the student health service and the nursing college, the Student Health Center, is one of the newer buildings on campus. It was finished in 1961 as a part of an eleven million dollar building program laid out by the 1959 State legislature.

Although the Bureau of Mines is not considered a building of the University, it was erected in the traditional campus stone by the Department of Interior of the United States. Many students from the University are employed here for research work.

The Aven Nelson Building, once serving the University as its library, stands now as an administrative and classroom center after being remodeled in 1959.

Recently built, the Home Management House of the University houses those upper class women majoring in Home Economics. The house is run entirely by its occupants and offers an excellent opportunity for practical experience.

The native brick Graduate School is the center of students desiring a higher education.

The Wyoming Field House, dedicated in December of 1951, sets the stage for the Cowboys' basketball and wrestling competition.

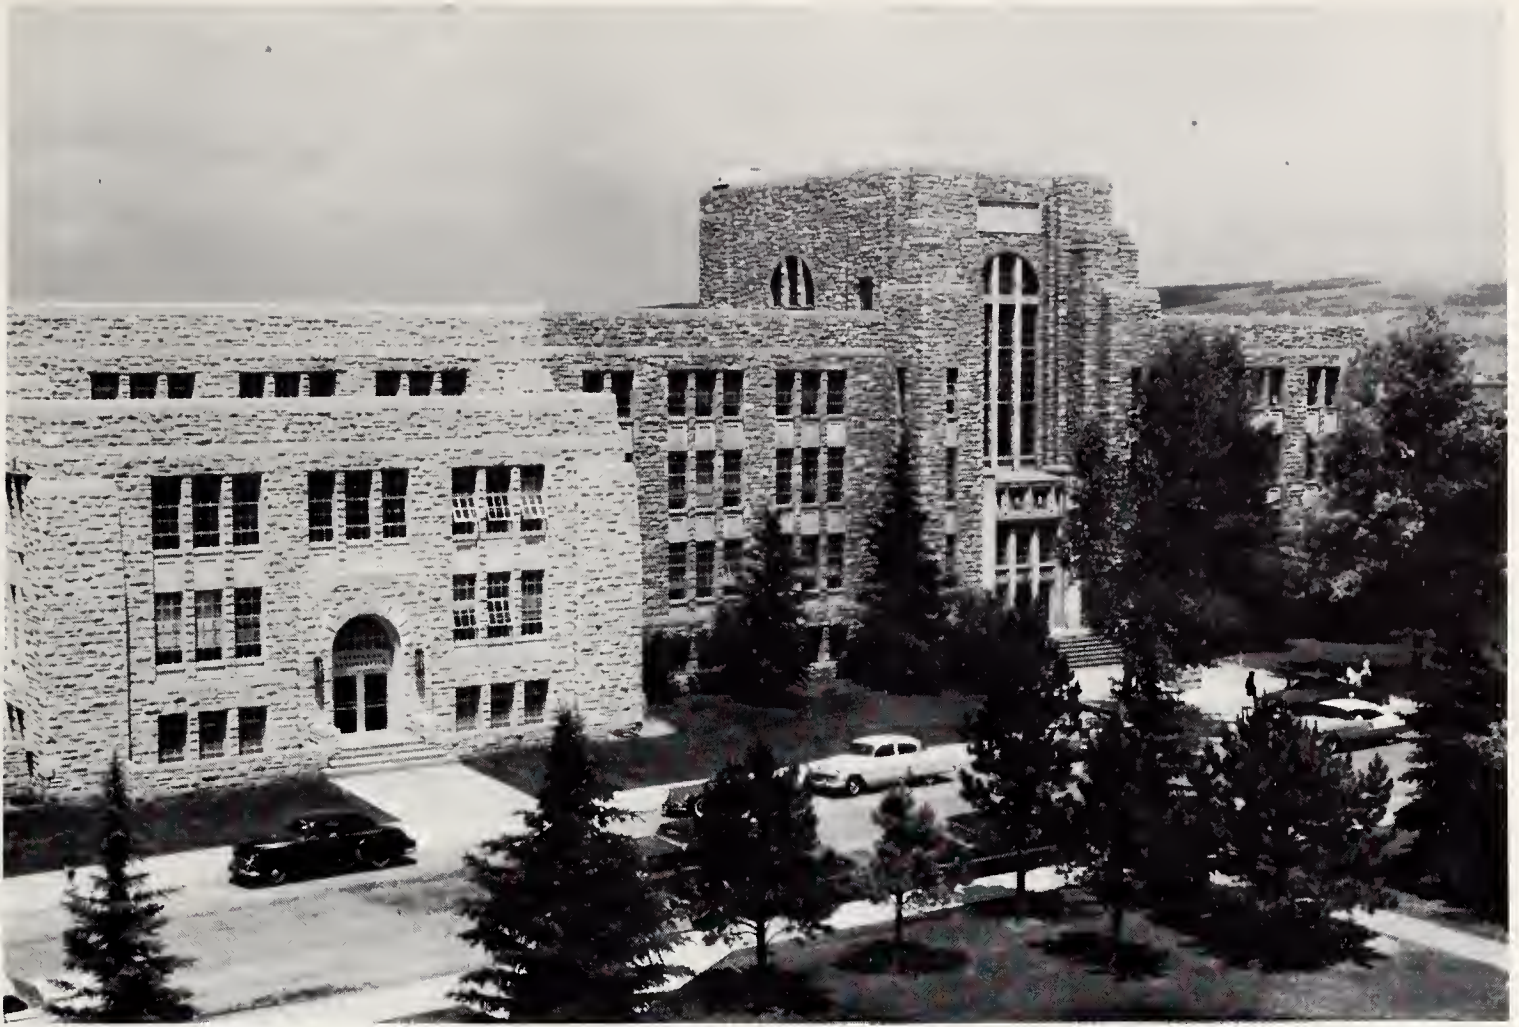

University of Wyoming's Agriculture Building houses the College of Agriculture which offers excellent courses and facilities. Erected in 1949 and 1950 this building occupies the equivalent of a whole city block.

The Arts and Science Building is the center of The UW campus. Its college contains one of the largest memberships, all those who are preparing "for complete living".

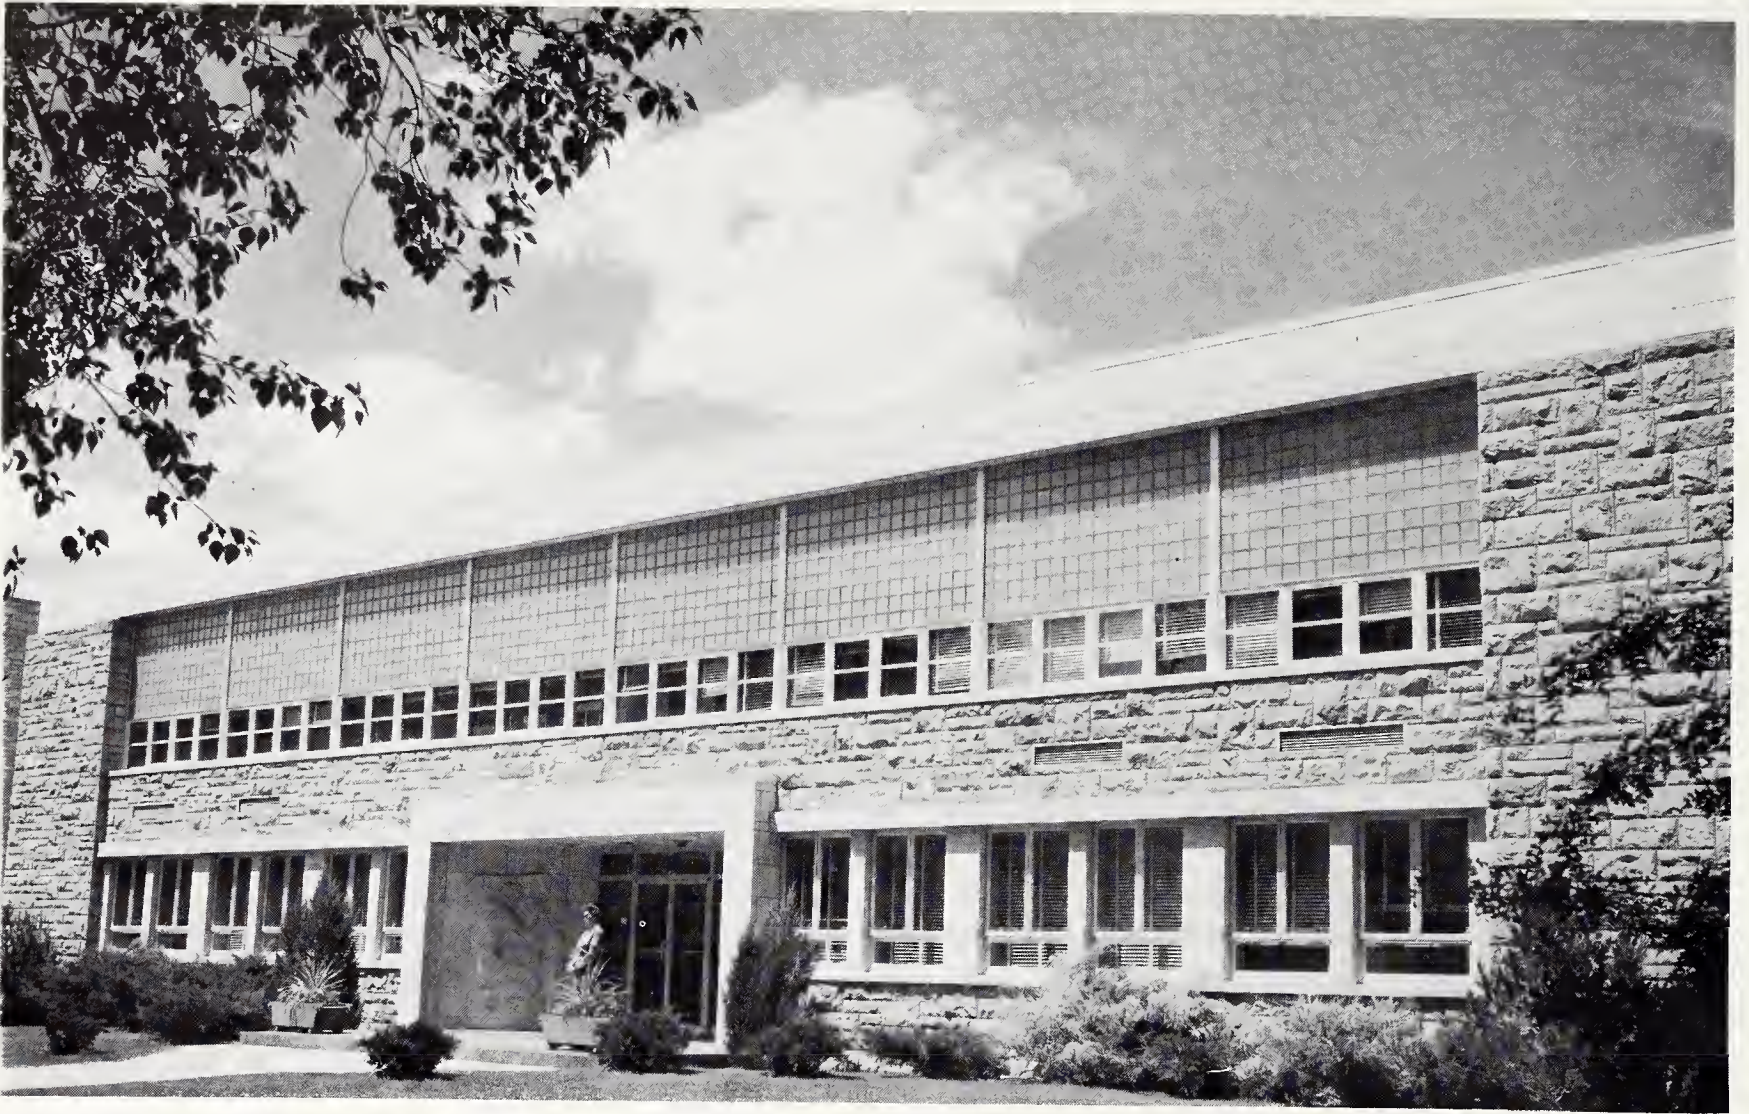

One of the larger colleges on campus cites as its center, the Engineering Hall. This large building, made of traditional stone was erected in 1927, and the Petroleum Aeronotics wing was added to the building in 1960.

Half-Acre Gym faces Prexy's Pasture and when erected in 1925 was claimed "largest and best equipped west of the Mississippi." It is now used for physical education and R.O.T.C.

The Law Building, a modern structure of traditional stone containing a substantial library, was completed in 1953.

The Building and Grounds, completed in 1953 is the headquarters for the campus police and other campus services. Additions were added in 1955 and 1962.

One of the older buildings on campus is the Chemistry-Zoology Building which was built in 1912 and has held countless students since that date.

"The whole power of education must be used" is the caption over the attractive Education Building which was erected in 1949. This building serves as a school for grade and high schools as well as college and graduate students.

Although recently completed men's dorms have eased the burden of Wyo Hall, it remains popular because of its location.

Built on the site of an old graveyard, Knight Hall retains a reputation of being comfortable.

Now in its second year of use, Ross Hall is favored by many coeds for its modern and practical aspects.

The University's newest edition in residence dormitories, Crane and Hill Halls, have made possible the new ruling that freshman men must live on campus.

Within the walls of the Athletic Dorm reside Cowboy athletes.

1962-63 plans for women's housing originally excluded the use of aging Hoyt Hall, but record enrollment has again populated this oldest of the women's dorms.

Wyoming's geology department ranks among the top in the nation. Its activities are centered in the beautiful Geology Building, which was expanded and remodeled in 1955.

Finished and ready for class just last spring, the Commerce and Industry Building is one of the newest on campus. Its beautiful exterior offers students the most modern classrooms and equipment.

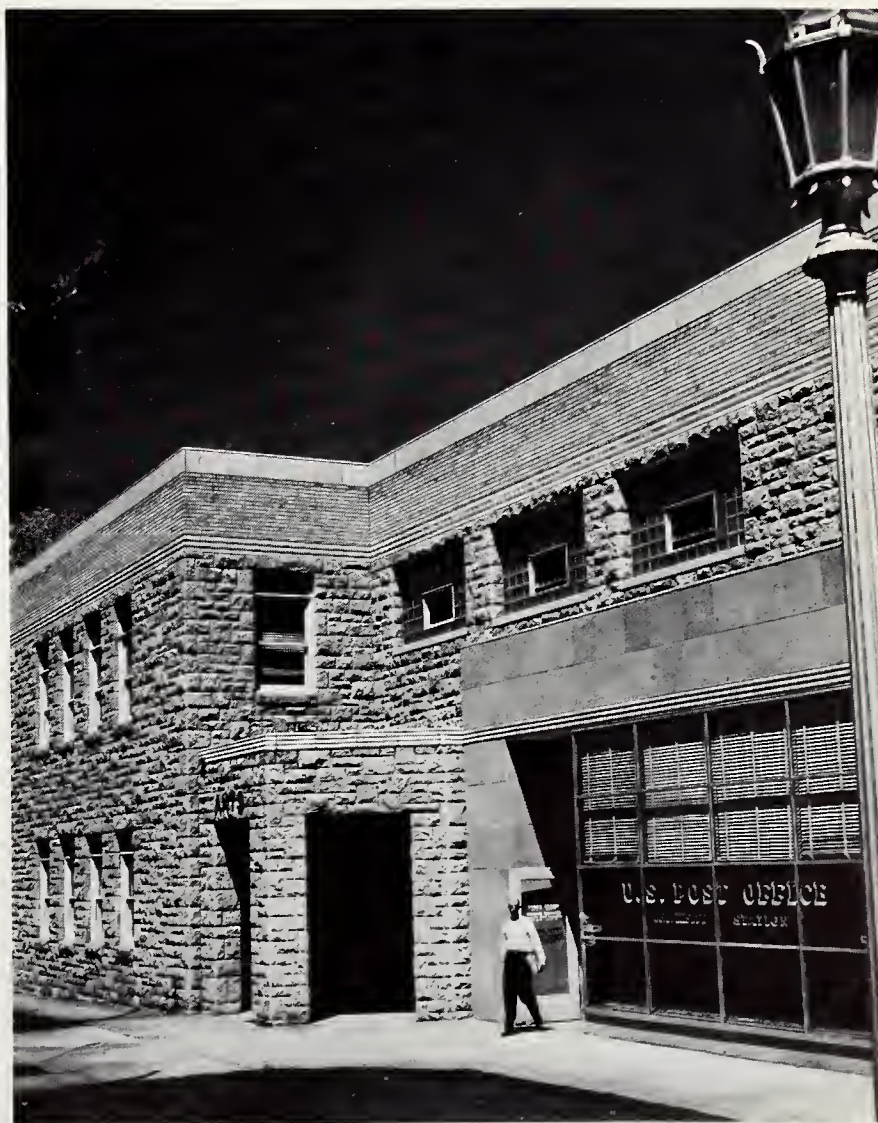

When completed in 1908, the present Merica Pharmacy building was used as a freshman women's dormitory, and the basement housed classrooms for art students.

The most popular building on Campus is UW's Student Union Building. The book store, the fountain room, the bowling alley, barber shop, pool room, card room, offices for the Student Senate, Branding Iron, WYO and other clubs are all located here.

Once used as the University's book store, the post office offers postal service for all students and faculty. The building, completed in 1949, houses both the art department and the post office.

Army ROTC

These pages represent the University of Wyoming ROTC unit and its function. The ROTC unit has been a part of the University since 1891 and at present supports a Brigade consisting of two batallions. The first Batallion consists of MS 1 or freshman cadets, who make four companies called A, B, C, and D companies. The Second Batallion has two companies of MS 2 or sophomore cadets, an honor guard, a drum and bugle corps, and a color guard.

The function of Army ROTC is to give the young men of the university a background and basic understanding of the working United States Army and it's tasks in the future as well as the past, and to find men who are interested and qualified for commissioned officers in the U.S. Army.

Freshmen attend class once a week and learn such things as proper care and firing of weapons and the way the Army is made up. Sophomores have class two times a week to learn map reading, small unit tactics, and military history. Cadet officers attend regularly scheduled classes on military work and functions in order to learn to be officers upon graduation from college.

Cadets, cadet officers, and commanding officers, who are Army regulars, attend drill twice a week for half of the Fall and Spring Semesters. In drill the cadets learn the art of Army Drill and Ceremony by practicing marching movements as a Brigade, batallions, companies, and squads. The cadet officers who command the marching corps of men receive practice at commanding from the brigade to the individual soldier.

Scabbard and Blade Sponsor Corpettes

To further the military traditions of the cadet corps at the University of Wyoming, to sponsor the color guard for the home games, corpetts and the Military Ball, remains the objectives of Scabbard and Blade. This honorary organization consists of those members in advanced Army ROTC who have maintained a high military standing.

The Military Year terminates with Governor's Day when awards are given. All shoes are shined to a gleaming glisten and members of Scabbard and Blade present their men at their very best marching form.

Air Force ROTC

Col. John E. Laybourn is the commander of AFROTC Detachment 940.

During the first two years of a basic cadet's enrollment in Air Force ROTC, it is the objective to motivate a desire in him to serve as a future officer on the aerospace team. Once a cadet has chosen to enter advanced ROTC and has passed both mental and physical examinations, he is given a thorough education in the fundamentals needed to produce an outstanding Air Force officer. Upon graduation, the ROTC cadet is commissioned a second lieutenant in the United States Air Force, ready to begin a rewarding and fulfilling career.

Not all young men who graduate from AFROTC necessarily go on to become pilots. Rather, the Air Force encourages its cadets to select that field of the Air Force which most appeals to them. Most of the time this decision will hinge upon the cadet's chosen field in college. In this way the cadet, his university, and the Air Force are working hand in hand to produce valuable and needed leaders for our country.

The Arnold Air Society is an honorary organization composed of cadets in advanced Air Force ROTC. It is the goal of this organization to choose those advanced cadets whose moral character, academic standing, and leadership ability will be an asset to AAS, both locally and nationally. By setting these high standards, not only does Arnold Air benefit but the cadet is also benefitted by what he does to promote and uphold the objectives of aerospace power.

Once a cadet has been pledged to AAS, he strives toward active membership by performing such functions as guarding at athletic events, ushering for university activities, and performing various work details. Formal initiation takes place several months later at a very impressive initiation ceremony.

Arnold Air Society's major activities this year were the sponsoring of the military ball, a successful blood drive, and serving for the university at various athletic and extra-curricular events. The Angels, an organization of university coeds, are also under the sponsorship of Arnold Air Society. Besides their various services and social projects, the members also took several trips to neighboring Air Force bases.

Lael Henderson was the cadet commander of the group this year.

Governor's Day

Besides attending classes which deal with the aerospace age, the cadet gains valuable knowledge in leadership techniques by planning and participating in weekly drill periods. As the school year nears its end, ROTC cadets of both the Army and Air Force put the lessons they have learned in drill on display by participating in the annual Governor's Day. Thus another successful year draws to an end with each cadet assured that he made his small contribution to success.

Governor Jack Gage is escorted on a review of the cadet formation.

Visiting dignitaries prepare to take part in another Governor's Day.

Everything is in readiness as Air Force Cadets prepare to pass in review.

Each year a number of new girls become initiated into the Angel Flight sponsored by the Arnold Air Society. Here the officers prepare for the initiation ceremony.

Angels and Corpettes in Action

At the Corpette tea a number of girls are considered to become members of the honorary group sponsored by the Army ROTC.

Chosen by Scabbard and Blade, the advanced ROTC group, these gals are "in the army now." Each year this honorary group organization ushers at all the basketball and football games and marches at one game in the spring. They ride in cars during the Homecoming and all military parades, and they collaborate with all military personnel in planning the annual Military Ball.

The Angels at Wyo U can be recognized around campus by their uniforms of sky blue. This honorary group is selected by Arnold Air Society on the basis of poise, personality, appearance and attractiveness. These factors are discovered by application and interviews.

These gals act as hostesses at military functions during the year, give one exhibition drill, and march in university and military parades. They attend Arnold Air Society Initiations and sponsor a rifle team.

The Archangel this year was Lila Gallagher, with Donna Rae McHale as secretary, the second in command.

Student Senate

Senate Reports

by Gwini Adams

A Student Senate with plenty of fuel but not too many fires tried and tried again but never quite got off the ground.

At its first meeting the Senate decided to take their annual fall trip to the Wyoming-Texas Western game at El Paso. During the next meeting they reversed their decision and decided to go to the Utah State game in Logan.

The "casual" approach became the fad. Thereafter Frank Mendicino, ASUW president, used the term in connection with the proposed poster cheating campaign. The bill was defeated.

At the same meeting, the Senate Elections Committee read their first set of rules for the homecoming election. The rules stated that there would be two finalists and that students would vote for one candidate in the primaries. (This election was later known in some circles as "The Great Queen Scandal.")

Hugh McFadden, A&S Senator, introduced a bill to send a letter of recommendation to the book store for more browsing space, a better selection of books, not so much space for trinkets and more and better books.

Student Body Vice-President, Tom Lee

McFadden later found that some action had already been taken on the matter and requested the Senators to defeat the bill.

Other business, considered to be some of the biggest piece of legislation to go before the ASUW Senate in the last two years, the Senate recommended to the Board of Trustees that fifty cents be added to the student activity card for financial support of the UW theatre.

At this time the "great homecoming scandal" occurred. Because of a miscount, Judy Ziegler and Lila Gallagher were announced by the Senate Elections Committee as the two Homecoming finalists. Karen Hill was third. When the mistake (100 votes in Judy Ziegler's favor) was found, rumors flew as to what action would be taken. Finally, after several emergency meetings of the elections committee, Karen Hill and Lila Gallagher were announced to be the official finalists.

There, of course, was "hell to pay" afterwards when Georgia Mandis, Ross Hall's candidate for homecoming queen, came to Senate with the complaint (a well known fact by then) that the elections had been unfair. She also suggested that the Senate do something about this--but no suggestions were offered.

In one of their more elaborate efforts, the Senators heard an appeal from T. S. Sharma asking for student aid to India in their border war with Red China. "This valuable help," said Sharma, "Will aid a peaceful nation like that of your own which is engaged in fighting for the cause of democracy." So, plunging into national affairs, the Senate discussed the McMahon line, India's position in world opinion, objectiveness of the press and the University's moral obligation.

Only 20 students attended the Senate meeting held in the ballroom to accommodate the crowd. But those that were there were treated to an Indian-Red China debate that could only be equaled at the Security Council.

After lengthy discussion, the Senators approved the Indian Defense Bill by a vote of 18-5. After holding a dance and taking a collection at one of the basketball games, the Senate collected some money to send to India.

Senators defeated the bill which would have provided a bus running from the campus to the Medicine Bow Ski Area, on the grounds that "We a political group, cannot back a private enterprise."

The proposed bill to purchase 27 white wool sweaters for the Senators for the purpose of "identification" was also defeated. Besides not having sufficient funds for the sweaters, Art Greeno, A&S Senator, said "If a student has an issue he wants to introduce, he will find a Senator without running around looking for someone in a white sweater."

Later, Jerry Seaman, pharmacy senator, introduced a more logical idea asking for "suggestion boxes" in the colleges.

Other Senate activities during the year included the annual United Fund Drive, assignment of organizations to offices on the third floor of the Union, the Sponsorship of the Les Elgart dance, and the Highwaymen, and the introduction of minor bills varying from asking for more sidewalks, to appropriating money for the Denver Symphony Orchestra concert.

Senate Statistics

The student Senate is made up of 24 members elected from their various colleges by students registered in that college. Senators are chosen in proportion to the enrollment in their college. The college of Arts and Sciences has the largest enrollment and seats seven senators in the Student lawmaking body. The College of Education sponsors five, while Engineers send four to legislate. Commerce and Industry also seats four followed by the Agricultural College with two, while the Nursing College, Pharmacy College, and the College of Law account for one each.

Each member of Student Senate is on at least two of the 18 committees. The committees are classified as Executive, Academic Improvement, Activities and Traditions, Elections, Finance, Freshman Orientation, Public Exercises, Publicity, Public Relations, Social, Student Loan, Union Management, Publications, Wyo Days, Building and Grounds, Athletic, Traffic Appeals, Married Students, and University Relations.

Water--Vital to Campus Life

The water sprinkling system on the much traveled Prexy's Pasture is an artistic pattern seldom seen by the "typical" UW student. The reason: Robert Prah's grounds' crew turns the huge faucets on at daylight for two hours or so before students begin arising for their 8 o'clock classes. The thousands of gallons of water sprinkled three times weekly usually begin in early May to make Prexy's Pasture one of the beautiful spots on campus. It is the life of the campus, because most UW students cross the zig-zagged sidewalks or make a straight path from Ross Hall to the Ag Building at least twice daily. Even Coney Island would have difficulty competing with persons per square foot with Prexy's Pasture sidewalks during the 10-minute break between classes.

An Excellent Environment for Education

Although the University of Wyoming is situated in a climate where it is fabled that only cactus grows, its campus has a reputation for beauty. The scene above, from the Old Main corner of the campus, justifies that reputation.

Students near the Arts and Sciences College exploit the warmth of autumn sunshine. Fall of '62 was marked by absence of the Peanut Pond, removed for reasons of architectural instability.

"Do you really want to take Boys P.E.?" The registration system, although simplified, causes a flurry of excitement.

Registration Rush Begins Semester

Lines grow longer and longer as students, eager to purchase their books early, pour into UW Book Store.

"Gee that's a huge book" exclaims one harried student upon an investigation of Book Store shelves.

Hungry students arrived early to partake of the Chuckwagon Feed. The servings were generous and no one left hungry, although the total number of seconds and thirds was astounding!!

Chuckwagon Feed Attracts Many

Tanned pepsters were on hand to promote student enthusiasm for the Saturday football game. New cheers were introduced by these peppy gals who did all in their power to unify Wyoming University Students into a united cheering squad.

Casually seated on the Armory floor, UW students eagerly ate their dinner as the UW band played background music. Naturally as soon as the peals of "Cowboy Joe" were heard, everyone in the audience jumped up and began clapping. Needless to say, many hot dogs and pickles were sacrificed in the process.

Corpettes, Angels Review Prospective Members At Annual Teas

Each fall, in the informal atmosphere of teas, Angels and Corpettes acquaint themselves with coeds who in turn are introduced to the purposes and responsibilities of those groups. Above, Air Force personnel chat at the gathering of Angels and prospective members.

Below, Corpettes and their guests use the tea as an excuse to mingle the casual conversation and laughter of fall enthusiasm.

Innocently, the subject of a rough inspection, a prospective Corpette placidly retains poise under fire.

The "Rush" into Activities

The "Rush" into activities is epitomized in the pre-registration events at the sorority houses. Transported on a wave of parties, smiles, and questions like, "What's your major?" rushees are carried breathlessly to Saturday morning and sorority bids. Entertainment, refreshments, and a selective attempt on both the part of the rushee and sorority are all an integral part of this exciting week, a week to be anticipated and remembered by Freshmen.

The upper-classmen, too, will well remember this hectic week. Hours of planning and practicing, late nights, and snacks caught on the run keep upper-classmen busy throughout Rush Week. Trying hard to "keep smiling, no matter what happens", sorority girls learn just a little bit of being gracious and a lot about themselves, and await just as anxiously as the rushees, that fateful Saturday morning, when they will smilingly welcome "new sisters".

Starting everything off with a bang--the crack of a cannon begins every football game. This is undoubtedly one of the favorite tours of duty for the ROTC boys and one of the favorite traditions of the student body

Football Season Features Excitement, Success!

Encouragement or admonition? - it's hard to tell, but by the look on Coach Eaton's face, it's a very serious talk that he is giving to his boys in a pre-game warm up.

Anxiety and Hope Spell Preoccupied Spirit on the faces of the crowd as the football team disputes a call of penalty

Good Weather, Victory, Mark Homecoming.

"Floatful of Fillies" were gathered during the Homecoming parade and proceeded to keep time with the music.

This is one of the many outstanding floats which were submitted for judging during this year's Homecoming Parade whose theme was Century 21. Luckily for this coed the day dawned bright and warm.

Pepsters decked out in UW football jerseys led an enthusiastic crowd during the Homecoming Bonfire this year.

The Crowning Glory of Homecoming

A perfect way to set the mood for a perfect weekend is the traditional Homecoming "Sing". Alumnae, students, and parents reminisce and remind themselves of the good old days past and the better days to come. It seems only fitting that vivacious young college woman reigns over the festivities. And so on "Sing" night, through a rustling of excited anticipation, the Homecoming queen is announced. Breathless sighs, giggles, and sheer relief is exhibited on the part of the new queen, Karen Hill, and her attendant, Lila Gallagher. Homecoming . . . a traditional way to start off a new year of collegiate activities.

Little International Invites Action, Fun.

The Little International gives students on this campus a real opportunity to prove its Wyoming spirit. Ride 'em Cowboy rings through the air, and the atmosphere crackles with fun and excitement.

Skiers Dreams Come True at 50 Below

Feeling the nip of sub-zero weather, students of UW garbed themselves in the warmest clothes their wardrobes could produce. At 20 below, girls gave up the femininity of skirts for ski pants and the possibility of saving knees from frostbite.

Crane and Hill Halls reacted with their usual enthusiasm, attempting group activity in a game of "fox and geese". The fun soon deteriorated into a snowball fight and a race for the warmth of the dorm.

Christmas on Campus

"There's a hole in their roof!" is a typical comment concerning the Sigma Nu Fraternity's Christmas tree.

No, Pepster Carroll Christoferrson isn't kicking a football--but doing a Christmas routine during one of UW's basketball games.

Santa feels like twisting "like he did last summer" at the annual union Christmas party.

And so it is over--classes for a semester, activities, and the million moments that can never be regained. The weary shambles of the Union hall reflect the hopes, successes, and failures of another semester and of students who are perhaps fifteen hours closer to conquering the world.

Dr. Knight Completes 47 Teaching Years at UW

Exactly 30 days before his 71st birthday, Dr. S. R. Knight will retire as head of the Geology department. Boasting a 47 year teaching career, Knight can subsequently boast of 70 years on UW's campus in the capacity of student, faculty member and professor.

The names, Knight and Geology, have been interrelated during the many long years of his guidance in the department.

Dr. Knight's talents are not by any means limited to the field of geology. He can swing a mighty artist's pen as well as a geologist's pick, a draftsman's pen with equal dexterity as a welding torch.

He was one of the key influential figures in moving Wyoming's geological collections from poor closets into a first-rate museum, in the founding of the University science camp in Medicine Bow mountains, and the growth of the geological curriculum itself. During his leisure time, Dr. Knight sponsored clubs and UW athletic events, and produced an 86' by 8' mural for the geology museum.

In 1907 Dr. Knight began his studies at UW Preparatory School and graduated out later, meriting a baccalaureate degree. He became a professor of geology after three years graduate work at Columbia and was named head of the department in 1917.

When Dr. Knight assumed teaching at UW, it had seven buildings and the student population, including those in prep school, numbered 335. He has delivered lectures accented by startlingly perfect circles and eye-brow emphasized statements to more than 10,000 students, teaching many sons of former students.

One of Dr. Knight's most notable achievements is a 75 foot long Brontasaurus which was carefully constructed in two and one half years by carefully fitting together hundreds of bones on a steel framework using his own sketches and the few source books available only for references. Dr. Knight calls the job a "challenge" and an "interesting job." When Dr. Knight's latest project, an all metal Tyranosaurus Rex, king of the now extinct dinosaur world, will be 60 feet long, 200 pounds in weight and will tower 22 feet above the sidewalk.

Distinguished alumnus of UW 1954, an honorary LLB degree from the University, a life membership in Wyoming Geological Association, and a certificate naming Knight a distinguished lecturer of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists are only a few of the many awards received by this most amazing man.

Dr. Knight's newest project is all-metal Tyranosaurus Rex which, in its completed form will measure 40 feet from teeth to tail.

The twirlers work in connection with the University Band during the fall marching season. Twirlers are chosen on the basis of twirling and marching ability whenever a position is left vacant. Once selected, a twirler remains until she chooses to leave. The Head twirler this year was Joan Selmer. Other twirlers pictured below from left to right are: Karyl Lohrs, Billie Jon Hacker, Barbara Wimpenny, Bonnie Lee Barger, Joyce Moses, and Anita Brown.

Ending each performance the band while reversing the letters WYO and finished in our own fight song "Cowboy Joe".

Symphonic Band

At the close of the marching season, the band moves indoors, holds chair-placement auditions, switches from field to concert-type instruments and becomes the symphonic band. This band performs at a dozen or more home basketball games, the State basketball tournament, and presents an average of two concerts each year. This season the band will present a benefit "Pops" concert for the Dave Marion fund, will appear in Casper for the Northwest Music Educators convention and will present a formal concert in May. The band's repertory includes the old standard band classics, selections from current Broadway musicals as well as the newer contemporary band literature. Mr. Seltenrich, associate professor of music, is the director of this group and is our campus woodwind specialist. He plays oboe with the University orchestra and with the Casper and Cheyenne orchestras.

Marching Band

Wyoming's most active and spirited student organization, the marching band, is under the direction of Charles Seltenrich, associate professor of music, assisted by two student directors. This season's student directors were Jay Holland, who also served as drum major, and Jerry Rehfus. The band appears at each home game and makes at least two trips each season. This year the band performed at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs and at the Utah State game in Logan, Utah. Interest in the marching band has grown in the past few years to the point where as many as 165 prospective members turn out in the fall. The final 120 members are selected by audition and represent students from all schools and colleges on the campus. In past seasons the band has traveled to three Bowl games and has made numerous televised appearances.

Chamber Band

Edgar Lewis, Director

The members of the chamber band are chosen by audition from the membership of the marching and symphonic bands. The purpose of this group is to give added experience in performance techniques to students who are especially interested in such experience. The repertoire of musical literature played by the chamber band consists mainly of contemporary music and works written especially for small bands. The group presents a public concert on campus at least once each year.

“Brass Ensemble”

Edgar Lewis, Director

The UNIVERSITY BRASS ENSEMBLE offers to its members the opportunity to improve performance skills through the playing of music, written especially for the exploitation of the techniques of the brass instruments. For its audiences, the brass ensemble gives the opportunity to hear music of a kind which is not frequently heard, since most of the repertoire of the group is either contemporary or very old. During the current year the group has been especially active. Appearances, on and off campus, have included the following: The annual Christmas program; a special program of Christmas music played from the balcony outside the Arts and Sciences building; a special program for the Northwest Music Educators convention in Casper; a concert and clinic in Hanna, Wyoming; and a joint concert on campus with the University Vocal Ensemble.

Arthur Birkby, assistant professor of music, teaches theory and conducts the vocal ensemble. Dr. Birkby is an accomplished organist and plays several concerts each year in addition to serving as organist at the St. Matthew's Cathedral.

The Vocal Ensemble is an organization specializing in the performance of vocal works for small groups. The organization is under the direction of Arthur Birkby, assistant professor of music. The ensemble rehearses regularly twice each week. Their performances this season have included a special Christmas program and an appearance in formal concert in collaboration with the Brass ensemble.

Vocal Ensemble

Ward Fenley, instructor in music, is Wyoming's talented violinist. Mr. Fenley teaches violin and viola and conducts the University symphony orchestra. He makes numerous appearances on campus and throughout the state as violin soloist. He plays with the University chamber groups and with the Casper and Cheyenne orchestras.

David Tomatz, instructor in music, is our campus 'cellist. Mr. Tomatz makes frequent appearances as a 'cello soloist and plays with the University orchestra and chamber groups. In addition to his local appearances, Mr. Tomatz plays with the Casper and Cheyenne symphony orchestras.

Ward Fenley Conducts Orchestra

The university chorus is an organization of approximately 125 voices which concentrates on the rehearsing and performance of one of the larger major choral compositions in the fall semester. Membership is open to students, faculty and towns people without voice tryouts. It is under the direction of George Gunn, Professor of Music. This year the University Orchestra, under the direction of Ward Fenley, collaborated with the chorus in presenting the "Gloria" by Poulenc and the "Te Deum" by Kodaly. The group is pictured in new robes of navy blue purchased through a gift of a generous donor who is an ardent admirer of the choral work done at the University.

Pianist

Allan Willman (right) and William Carter (left) serve the piano needs on our campus. Both men frequently appear in solo recitals, collaborate on duo-piano works and serve as accompanists for visiting artists. Mr. Willman, professor of music, teaches composition, piano, and serves as chairman of the Division of Music. Dr. Carter, associate professor of music, devotes the bulk of his time to piano teaching.

George Gunn

A Cappella Choir

The A Cappella Choir is an organization of approximately 75 members selected by try-outs. It is under the direction of Professor George Gunn and holds two regularly-scheduled rehearsals per week. A Christmas program is presented just before the holidays after which work is immediately started on a spring program. Occasionally the choir makes a brief tour of the State and appears on television. This year a tape recording was made of the Christmas program and was broadcast over the national radio network of the Mutual Broadcasting company. This group is also heard at commencement exercises where its appearance has become a tradition.

WYO Staff Completes Its Product After Busy Year

Fall registration came and the 1962-1963 WYO came to life. Its first duty was making picture appointments with almost 4800 students. This was only the beginning; within weeks a total staff of over thirty began planning the volume of their dreams. Complex disorganization dominated in an atmosphere saturated with the noise of typewriters and the confusion of editors trying to organize. Through the months, pressure never let up. Bushels of pictures and reams of copy were selected and equal amounts rejected. The disappointment of ruined film and lost name lists added to the seeming hopelessness of the task. Bewailed cries of "I've got one more week to meet my deadline!" filled the air. Miraculously a final coordinated effort produced the finished, but still rough form of the WYO. With relief that the job was done, the staff had still another task--to worry about the competency of the printers!!

Laughing hysterically perhaps, Anne Siren, co-editor of the WYO, is pictured in one of her habitual poses--behind a typewriter. As the deadline date became closer and tempers became shorter, both these gals continued to correlate and enable their staff to see an end somewhere in the murky future.

Branding Iron Office--Place of Hard Work, Nightly Activity

Pictured in habitual poses are Iris Paul-Wilcox and Linda Harmston. Their task was the compiling and editing of the Student Directory which includes the name, class and address of every student on the UW campus. Lists are checked, people are called, and stacks of cards are carefully sorted, all in the line of duty for these busy gals.

Pictures of beautiful women, knees, belts, birds and witty sayings can be found on the west wall of the Branding Iron Office.

On March 28, continuing the annual tradition at the University of Wyoming, the members of Pi Delta Epsilon and Sigma Delta Chi put President Humphrey and Dean Chalmers "on the gridiron". Approximately seventy-five campus leaders were on hand to "grill or fry" the campus administrative heads on current campus issues.

Membership in Pi Delta Epsilon, national journalism honorary, is based on scholarship, service, and interest in student publications. Representatives are sent annually to the Rocky Mountain Collegiate Press Association Conference to learn better means to improve campus publications.

A functioning typewriter is surely an essential commodity for Gary Harvey, Datebook and Branding Iron Editor.

Branding Iron --

"What's new?" is a question directly related to the job of this year's News Editor, Gwini Adams.

Bruce Cody served as Cartoonist on this year's BI staff.

That hard working crew who publish the weekly college newspaper, the Branding Iron, are pictured here engaging, as usual, in industrious activity. The average college student fails to realize the work required for such a publication. Mondays are assignment days and Tuesdays, Wednesday and Thursday nights are set aside for hard work on the part of each BI staff member. The rate hours are ignored and personal comfort is denied when "putting to bed" our school's publication each week.

The BI which includes all phases of campus life, remained this year, the very hub of student controversy.

--- Presents Campus Controversies

Feature Editor, Tom Hodge, puffs meditatively on a cigarette while considering a "hot" issue.

"Let's sell one more page," exclaims Jack Childers, BI Advertising Manager.

Flashbulbs, cameras and developing tanks are all part of everyday activity for the busy Photo Editor, Dave Dougherty.

Desk Editor, Sharon Suchta, pauses while proofreading BI Copy.

Football, basketball, swimming, wrestling, and baseball are commonly used terms in the copy of Doug Gibson, Sports Editor.

Reflecting the challenge of her position, Circulation Manager, Linda Harmston, gives subscribed BI a head start.

Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities

Qualities of scholarship, leadership, and co-operation in educational and extra-curricular activities plus promise of future usefulness and citizenship denote members of UW's Who's Who for 1962-63. Twenty-nine men and seventeen women were chosen by the Who's Who committee consisting of the UW Senate, the Deans of Men and Women, and former members of the honorary still on campus.

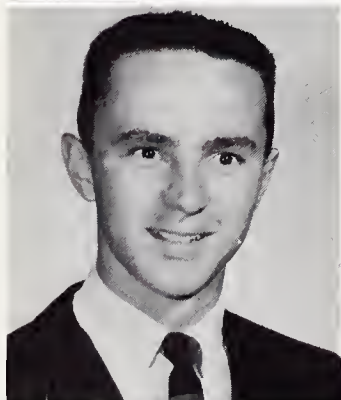

The National Who's Who Office in Alabama issues each college or university their quota based on student population. After carefully considering the qualifications of the various student leaders, forty-six names were submitted to the national committee for approval. This central office publishes each year, a book entitled Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Young Republicans Applaud Wyoming GOP Success

Resting up from past efforts but still busy with new plans are the Young Republicans, headed by Jack Mueller. Mary Bess Kohrs as Vice Chairman; Sharon Weber as Secretary; and Sally Woodson as Treasurer, help to see that interest in the Republican Party is generated among voters and prospective voters. These young people get practical experience by helping the Albany county Republican Committee organize the campaigns and by working long hard hours behind the scenes, to keep good government up front!

Making sure that government is not a "necessary evil" but rather just necessary are the Young Democrats. Flushed with victory nationally but knowing that hours of hard work are ahead for the local and on the state level, this group attempts to stimulate interest for Democratic ideals. Mucho Balka leads this energetic group.

Lawyers of Tomorrow Unite in Potter Law Club

"A word united--through Law" . . . A pretty large order that needs to be filled in the 21st century. And the men to fill it are members of the Potter Law Club! Classes, textbooks, moot trials, hours of study and research, all are part of the everyday life of the student lawyer. But all work and no dinners, dances and side parties don't make a good lawyer. So this facet is polished off occasionally too. J. Patrick Hand, acts as Chancellor for the group, with Michael J. Sullivan, Vice Chancellor and James R. Wolfe, Secretary-Treasurer. Mr. Frank J. Trelease is the advisor to the Potter Law Club. Please men--meet the challenge!

Student Law Wives is under the direction of Mrs. Geraud, Mrs. Lee, Mrs. Rames, Mrs. Rudolf and Mrs. Pearce, the wives of law professors. Any wife of a present Wyoming law student is eligible for membership. Mrs. Karen Hand is the President; Sandra Rardin, Vice President; Bonnie Thomas, Secretary-Treasurer; Judy Dray, Historian and Penny Burley, Jane Sullivan and Coleen Mekeel, Social Chairmen. The objectives of these women is to allow law wives to meet each other, to raise money for Law Scholarships, to have guest lecturers and to plan social events for law students. This group plans fund raising activities such as style shows in order to raise money for the Law Scholarship awarded to some outstanding law student. Student Law Wives gather the first Tuesday in the month in the Ag. Lounge at 8:00 P.M.

Newly Organized "K" Club Promotes Civic Interest

Another new group is opening its doors to young male students interested in civic affairs. Circle "K" Club is the college segment of Kiwanis. Through the aid of Kiwanis, these young men are afforded the opportunity of being active in important civic events both on campus and throughout the community.

Robert Sutherland, professor of Mechanical Engineering is the faculty advisor. Jim Thompson presides as president of the new organization. Dave Egolf is Vice-President; Dave Sneesby, Secretary-Treasurer; Bob Marshall, Director; Phil Coleman, Sophomore Director and Frank Sieglitz, Freshman Director.

Take some interesting and interested students, lots of understanding and add a touch of international flavor and what have you got? . . . The Cosmopolitan Club! These students have learned that cooperation begins at home and through this lesson have developed a mutual understanding and fellowship with foreign students on our campus. Chief diplomat is Diether Van Houghten and aides without-portfolio are Sikan-der A. Jabori, Vice-President and Sandra Streeter, Secretary-Treasurer. Coordinating delegates are Dr. Larson and Dr. Lavign. We have in the Cosmopolitan Club almost a miniature U.N. delegation right on our campus!

A roomful of test tubes, bunson burners and stirring rods--just the environment for the neophyte chemists. These students earn membership in this organization by virtue of their outstanding grades.

They round out their education with social activities throughout the year. The Grand Alchemist is George Moses, with William Alsup, Visor; Charles Brandenburg, Secretary; and Richard Bateman, Sergeant-at-Arms. Dr. John Maurer, assistant professor of chemistry, guides this group--away from being "a mad chemist" perhaps?

The members of Gamma Sigma Epsilon also wrote an excellent coverage of the Wyoming Chemistry Department that appeared this year in the "Ray," the national publication of Gamma Sigma Epsilon.

On the first Sunday of each month the romance language honorary, Phi Sigma Iota, holds a regular meeting. Its members are selected from those students who are majoring or minoring in a romance language and who have maintained a 2.00 over-all grade average. Senior members of the romance countries. This organization participates in such activities as a UN Day Tea, a Christmas Bazaar, Ag. Chile supper and a Spring Candy Sale.

ATA signifies Agriculture Teachers Association. Each year this group holds a banquet, attends the national ATA conclave, works with the FFA boys at the state conventions and contest and sponsors an annual family night and picnic. Wendell Wagner, president, presides over the weekly meetings. "To foster a fraternal spirit for honorary teacher trainees" remains the motto for ATA.

Alpha Kappa Psi Furthers Business Knowledge

Alpha Kappa Psi is composed of male members of the college of Commerce and Industry. Their objective is to further and broaden knowledge concerning the business world, knowledge that cannot be found in textbooks alone. Included among guest speakers at meetings this year was the vice-president of The Texas Company.

During the Spring Semester of each school year this organization is the sponsor of a number of guest lecturers to the student body. In the spring they hold their annual picnic. Officers of the club include Jim McWhinnie, president; Mike McAuliffe, vice-president; Dave Goodman, treasurer; Clyde Burke, secretary.

Tau Beta Sigma Promotes Interest in Music

Let there be music . . . and this group is seeing to it that there always is! Music is supposed to be the only international language and members of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia are adding their own connotations by fostering a true fraternal spirit among musically minded students. Jerry Rehfuss acts as maestro (President) of the group with Roger Schneider in first chair, (Vice President,) and Gary McKnight as composer (Secretary). Mr. Edgar Lewis and Mr. Arthur Birkby are the advisors to Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia. Concerts and dances are second nature to this group. Outstanding members are recognized by an annual award. Ready---1,2,3, Begin!

Homecoming Skid Elicits Effort of Iron Skull Members

The skull and bones which adorned the campus during Homecoming time was the work of Iron Skull, the honorary for junior men and women who have proved themselves in leadership and service ability. The main function of Iron Skull is to sponsor and coordinate the Homecoming Sing and Skid. Both these are held Friday night of the Homecoming Weekend. Hugh B. McFadden Jr. served the group as president. The other officers include Carolyn Logan, Vice President; Tom Fujikawa, Treasurer; and Shirley Brown, Secretary.

The cream of the crop in engineer students are the proud members of Sigma Tau. These junior and senior engineering students are chosen on their high scholastic attainments. They work toward creating an interest in all engineering students for high scholastic achievements and promote the adherence to present professional standards.

Head Engineer is Laurence Bement; James Duguid, Vice-President; Ted Loudon, Treasurer; Barbara Haight, Secretary; Mark Hoffman, Historian and Myles Bauman, Pyramid Correspondent. Under the direction of Mr. P. M. Hoyt, civil engineer and Assistant Dean, the members participate in the Engineer's Ball and an annual Sigma Tau Banquet in late May.

In a world where almost any form of cooperation has seemed impossible, these men seem to have solved the problem. The Joint Engineering Council is composed of two representatives from each professional society, Sigma Tau and the Engineering senators. This group functions as a "Brain Center" for the Engineering college by administering and directing all matters concerning the engineering student body. President of the group is Mel McKnight and other officers include Gene Mulholland, Secretary; and John Triplett, Treasurer. Professor Rhodine acts as this coordinating group's sponsor.

Institute of Electronic and Electrical Engineers Equips Members With Information, Motivation

Forward-----March!! And they do, ---on to better and bigger things for the world of tomorrow. We are speaking of the Electrical and Radio engineers, of course. Whether it is figuring out how to direct traffic with computers or utilizing wasted air space through electronics. These engineers are always searching for new ways and means for space age problems. The group honors its members with awards such as the AIEE outstanding Student Member Certificate, received by Allyn Wells, the AIEE-

IRE Joint Student Branch Honor Book received by Robert White and the IRE outstanding Student Member certificate received by Lynn Kirlin. They also participate in smokers, banquets, and dances.

Maurice C. Clary leads this group backed up by Jan Carroll, Vice-chairman; Robert D. Davis, AIEE Secretary; George Brown, IRE Secretary and James Bath, Treasurer. Advisors for the AIEE-IRE Society are Dr. E. M. Lonsdale and Professor Beach.

Preparing for a Profession Much in Demand, Mechanical Engineers Combine Forces in ASME

This society claims membership from Mechanical, Aeronautical and General engineers. One of the main objectives of the Mechanical Engineers is to introduce new advancements in engineering. They accomplish this through monthly meetings, field trips and a regional conference in the spring, including seven other schools. Being in the Engineering college, this group stresses achievement and recognized Dave McPherson and Paul Brookover for their accomplishment in writing outstanding papers for the regional paper contest last spring. Officers of the group include Ben Robbins, Chairman; George Jackson, Co-chairman; and Marlene Lagoda, Secretary. Dr. Earl Foster, an associate professor in the Mechanical Engineering Department, acts as advisor to this group.

ASCE Sponsors Smokers, Banquets, and High Goals

Coordination is the keyword in this society led by Floyd E. Foresman, President; Jim Reeves, Vice President; Gary Carver, Secretary; and Mel McKnight, Treasurer. This group strives to "bring out the best" in students in civil, agricultural, and architectural engineering. An attempt is made here to create more interest and further the student's knowledge in his individual field. The society also sponsors the ASCE Smoker in the latter part of September and the Banquet in May. Advisor for this group is Dr. Donald Lamb, Professor of Civil Engineering.

American Institute of Metallurgical, Mining and Petroleum Engineers

"Strive On . . . The control of nature is won, not given." This motto on the Engineering Building could well apply to these American Institute of Metallurgical, Mining and Petroleum Engineers. The groups objectives are to increase knowledge in the petroleum industries and to instill a professional pride in its members. AIME conducts tours throughout the Rocky Mountain area and holds a technical paper contest in January. Gordon Saathoff is the President with Delbert Strickling, Secretary; Tony Dunn, Treasurer; Dr. Stinson, head of the Petroleum Engineering Department, is the advisor for AIME.

Those students enrolled in Agricultural Engineering or Agricultural mechanics are eligible for membership in Agricultural Engineering Club which strives to promote interest in the members in their profession. A spring picnic and a trip to regional meeting in February are a few of the groups annual activities. Agricultural Engineering Club meets the third Tuesday of each month and is led by James Fornstrom. Richard Benston, Secretary-Treasurer; Don Slack, Scribe; and Don Harrod, Vice President complete the slate of officers.

Architectural Engineers Display Achievements

A building is the realization of a society's ideals and the men in this college are preparing, through study and research, to realize the ideals of tomorrow's society. The open house held at the Engineering College each spring gives these men an opportunity to display their achievements. Dream homes, efficiency hotels, and fraternity house. Smacking of Frank Lloyd Wright are just a few of the models that can be seen. Membership in this group is open to all students enrolled in the department of architectural engineering. Mr. Peter Hansen, professor of architecture is the advisor for the group led by Eugene J. Koester, President; Jim Atchley, Vice President; and Al Cook, Secretary-Treasurer.

Progress---is our most important product! This motto could well be applied to these engineers who have an eye on the future--and a hand at the wheel. The Aerospace engineers are laying the foundation with an emphasis on achievement through such honors as their student lecture and outstanding student awards. Practical experience is gained through field trips, laboratories, and research. Jimmy Don Young is the student branch chairman, with Rudy Profditer serving as Vice Chairman with Secretary and Ted Erickson as Treasurer. Mr. W. C. Townsend acts as advisor to these Progressive Engineers.

"One world or none" is of vital concern to the members of this new organization. Membership is open to any student in all related sciences and the function of the organization is to discuss nuclear advances for both peace and war. They carry out this function by having speakers at their monthly meetings. The organization hopes to broaden its scope by importing speakers from other campuses in the future. The officers of the American Nuclear Society are Tom Black, President; Rudy Arnold, Vice-President; Marlene Lagoda, Secretary; and Richard Epp, Treasurer. Mr. R. J. Jiacolletti is the sponsor for the group.

Union Planning and Coordinating Committee

Coordinating the tens of events sponsored by the Union proves to be quite a job, as any member of this committee will tell you. Responsible for presenting a well-organized, integrated program to the students, the Planning and Coordinating Committee sets dates and arranges a social events calendar for the year. Jim Crow is the enthusiastic sponsor of the Committee that is composed of the chairmen of all the Union Committees.

Union Publicity Committee

Ideas and more ideas . . . every week this Committee gets together for brainstorming sessions to come up with new publicity methods. Using every means possible, the Committee, as advised by Jim Crow, advertises every Union sponsored activity, from weekend dances to special events such as the Union Nightclub.

Attempting to produce a well rounded student is a function of every University. The Special Events Committee contributes to the cause by sponsoring movies, concerts, the WUTS programs, and many other activities to help provide entertainment for the Campus. Jim Crow serves as advisor for the group.

Union Cultural Affairs Committee

New innovations are a specialty of the Cultural Affairs Committee. Art exhibits, lecture series, and the Hour with Literature series are just a few of the activities sponsored by this Committee. This spring, a new event, a Fine Arts Festival, will be brought to the campus under the auspices of this Committee. The Festival will include lectures, concerts, and exhibits, and promises to become a permanent facet of University Life.

Union Social Committee

Decorations, plans, and hours of hard work are all functions of the Social Committee. Giving the students a taste of the "night-life", the Committee's biggest job is sponsoring the Union Nightclub. This year's Nightclub theme was Coral Reef and students enjoyed the atmosphere of low lights, and underwater decorations.

Sir John Falstaff (Fred Wheeler) in the Boarshead Inn

Sir John Falstaff toasts and boasts to his fellow men.

According to tradition "The Merry Wives" was composed by command of Queen Elizabeth I, "who obliged Shakespeare to write a Play of Sir John Falstaff in Love, which I am very assured he performed in a fortnight: a prodigious thing when all is well contrived and carried on without the least confusion."

Greeks establish high ideals of scholarship, coupled with a close social bond. These strive to "function" with activity, confidence and organization. Such three elements are responsible for the successful execution of any campus event. Affiliation benefits include the establishment of deep lasting friendships, and development of individual abilities. They stand united toward personal endeavor, scholastic endeavor, scholastic excellence and productive activity. "A feeling for one to fit with another, to strengthen one and both, And a pattern of behavior makes this union known and living, For it is built upon a need."

Spotlight "Rush"

Come and join in the Highland fling with the Alpha Chi's.

Greeks begin the school year with a great "rush" to select new members for fraternal life. This "Rush" is a full week consisting of parties for the sororities and fraternity smokers. It is a week evoking laughter, tears, and a time of decision. The biggest decision around campus is then "Which group should I choose?" But when the decision is finally reached, the new fraternity member finds his home away from home.

Costume and Formal Dances provide an excellent opportunity of socializing for Sorority and Fraternity members. Fraternities have three dances annually and the sororities generally have one each semester.

Many outstanding achievements can be attributed to the "Kappa keyers" including top offices in three women's honoraries, Homecoming Queen, four senators and two national awards presented at the KKG National Convention in 1962. The local Kappa chapter was founded on February 25, 1927 and now, in its thirty-sixth year, Maggie Webster serves as president and Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell as housemother.

Mortar Board sets high standards

"To encourage leadership, scholarship, and service in college women" are the purposes and objectives of the senior women's honorary, Mortar Board. Chosen for membership in this highest of women's honoraries were Thelma Hansen, Karen Rushmore, Lola Horton, Barbara Kniss, Mary Bess Kohrs, Mary Plunkett, Leota Heil and Mary Jane Urbigkit. During this year the members of Mortar Board sponsored the leadership-scholarship banquet, the Founder's Day Tea, the senior women's banquet and torchlight laurels which is held in the spring. The officers for this year include Thelma Hansen, President; Karen Rushmore, Vice president; Barbara Kniss, Secretary; Mary Plunkett, Treasurer; Lola Horton, Historian; Mary Bess Kohrs, Editor; and Leota Heil, AWS Representative.

Chimes resound with service

Chimes, the Junior Women's Honorary, is composed of these women who have maintained at least a 2.20 grade average and have been active in campus activities during their first two years of college. Recognized by all in their bright blue uniforms, Chimes members assisted Freshman women during Orientation, moving into their dorms, by presenting an hour long program, and by answering any questions which they might have in regard to college life and activities. The tradition AWS test was given to all new women students the first of December. President, Kathi Murphy, presides over the group which is sponsored by E. Luella Galliver.

SPURS spark school spirit

Striving to be of service to the University and community, to support school activities and to uphold the traditions of the college keeps the gals clad in white busy throughout their sophomore year.

Spurs, the sophomore women's honorary, is composed of young women who had at least a 2.25 grade average their freshman year and who have shown an active interest in campus activities and citizenship.

Spurs promoted school spirit by attending athletic contests, performed services for the University of Wyoming by washing windows and ushering at plays, and made money by selling SPURshey bars and SPUR-o-grams at Valentine Day.

AWS Regulates Women's Activities

Assisting the Dean of Women in her regulation of girls' hours and activities is the organization called Associated Women Students. Most of the work done by this group concerns legislation and maintenance of campus rules for women. AWS also promotes the Wyo King elections, Tourchlight Laurels, Panhellenic and Mortarboard. Miss Bonnie Brown is president of this group composed of elected and approved representatives from all women's associations. Miss E. Luella Galliver, Dean of Women, sponsors AWS along with Miss Bernadine Schunk, head of Student Teacher Placement and Mrs. Margaret Boyd, Home Economics instructor.

Every spring AWS awards a scholarship to an outstanding senior woman. Meetings are conducted in the PSI Room every other Tuesday. Officers assisting Bonnie Brown are Dorothy Williams, Presidential Delegate at large; Thelma Hansen, Vice President; Sharon Sandeno, Vice Presidential delegate at large; Tonia Rulli, Secretary and Diana Duncan, Treasurer.

The group is established to promote friendship among Greek pledge classes. Membership is made up of two elected representatives from each sorority pledge class. These young women work together on various money making projects. Miss Wadetta Ricketts is the advisor of Junior Panhellenic which meets every other Tuesday in the Union.

Dorms Foster Fun and Memories

Dorm life is an exciting, interesting experience enjoyed by all women who live there. It is a jumble of card games, ringing telephones, blaring stereos, disappointed and ecstatic girls, gossip sessions and an occasional quiet moment set aside for study.

Ross hallers live in the luxury of a new beautifully furnished dorm. Ross Hall, the newest women's dorm, is equipped with elevators, which transport the weary students to the different floors of the dorm, and telephones in each room which are ringing constantly.

At Ross Hall, Mrs. Marie Heckendorf has charge of approximately 400 women. In the two years that Ross Hall has been in existence, its girls have dominated the intra-mural activities sponsored by the W.A.A. This year, Ross Hall won the bowling tournament which was held in October and more recently the volleyball tournament held in December. These two events have brought the first place trophy total to six--a record of which the entire group is proud.

Under the supervision of dorm mother, Miss Francis E. Meiller and President, Sharon Redding, Knight Hall has sponsored several teas and functions. This musically talented group of women sang their way to first place in the Independent Women's division of the Homecoming Sing.

"Venerable" describes Hoyt Hall, the oldest dorm still in use on this campus. Through the years this dorm has felt the footsteps of numerous girls and has heard the joys and sorrows of everyone of its dwellers. Hoyt carries on its traditional manner under the leadership of Nan Babel, President, and Mrs. Lydia CortHELL, dorm mother.

Working---

Telephone calls come in day and night. It would help if you were a mechanic when it comes to running the switchboard!

Musically talented girls gather around the piano to entertain all who have time to listen. It's better than a juke box!

Holding hands is much more fun in the shadow of the dorm "jungle". It's almost like being lost in the Tullies!

Playing---

Last minute sign ins are typical at dorm closing time. Sign in five minutes early and avoid the rush!

Taking time out to get a soft drink is a great excuse to congregate in the hall to discuss the latest "gossip"?

Playing cards is a favorite passtime of the UW co-eds. Anything is better than studying, isn't it?

Just sitting around!

Stormy winter nights keep girls inside the dorm. The strenuous game of table tennis provides ample entertainment. We must get our exercise!

Senior Home Economics majors are required to live in the Home management house for one semester. Here young women get practical experience in "managing" a home. They are kept busy cooking, cleaning, washing dishes, and occasionally they find a spare minute to study and entertain. Isn't that correct?

Knitting is the latest fad. It is logical, from knitting sweaters grow. And sweaters keep us warm during the long winter months.

The Interfraternity Council is the coordinating and governing body of the men's Greek letter fraternities and, consequently, is made up of members from each of these organizations. It is the supreme hope of IFC to maintain cordial relations between the fraternities, while at the same time to promote the type of competition which must exist to make a fraternity system strong.

Not only does IFC coordinate the relations of the individual fraternities but at the same time it tries to promote understanding with other groups outside of the Greek organizations. IFC is constantly dealing with the faculty, student body, and city of Laramie in an effort to establish friendly ties.

The first and perhaps toughest job of the year for IFC is the planning and coordinating needed to carry out a successful rush week. IFC is also in charge of one of the university's social highlights, the Ugly Man's dance. Concluding the year IFC is trying to organize and strengthen what they hope to be an annual event, "Greek Week".

Officers this year were Dave Carmichael, president; Bill Shaffer, vice-president; and Kim Briggs, secretary-treasurer.

LOVIN', LIVIN', AND LEARNIN'

by Lyle Rickert

Quite conceivably there are students at this institution who are here to gain what our modern society demands, a college degree. As a matter of fact all of us in the course of a school year give a fleeting thought or two to the probability of one day facing the cruel, "outside" world. But let's face it, one can only do so much during the course of nine months, so something has to be eliminated --studying of course!

Now there are people who contend that the university student who finds himself isolated in Laramie has little to do but sit in his room, staring at the last 108 PLAYMATES of the last 108 issues of PLAYBOY. Once again we must face the facts. By carefully organizing his average 8 hour day, 99% of all college students sleep until 2 o'clock in the afternoon), the University of Wyoming student can easily find enough to occupy himself, so that his books collect an inch of dust and his professors report him to the Bureau of Missing Persons.

The most frequented building on this campus, the Student Union, plays a valuable role in every student's life. For it is here over a cup of coffee or perhaps a coke, that the real learning takes place. Now the learning acquired here cannot perhaps be termed academic, but it is here that the latest PLAYMATE is discovered and booked for the coming weekend, it is here that the social plans for the weekend are formally outlined, and it is here that one can whiz through a few rubbers of bridge (the location of this game fluctuates between the main floor and the basement, depending on who is watching). Also located in the union are a bowling alley, a pool room, and the bookstore, all of which provide the student with some form of entertainment. So it is easy to see how one can easily be kept busy without leaving the confines of one building, and consequently, class attendance is kept at a minimum.

Once the daylight hours have passed it tends to be a little tense as far as entertaining oneself during the week. The union can still be used although the two most stimulating rooms, the Fountain Room and the bookstore, are closed. On occasion the University supplies such events as guest speakers and professional entertainment, such as Paul Harvey (who appeared in 1961-62) and the Highwaymen. Laramie's local theaters have a constant string of fine movies, although some came out originally before talking movies were invented. And if it appears that the night might be a perfect flop, well---"bridge anyone"?

The weekends are a different story. We are always ready to root for the Cowboys, whether in football, basketball, or any other sport. One may take his PLAYMATE to such all school functions as the Homecoming Skid, the Ugly Man dance, the Snow Carnival, or a dance featuring Les Elgart or some other big name band. If social events are lacking, those students over twenty-one seem to still find a plenty to do and others discover that Colorado is only twenty miles away.

The members of Greek organizations always are on the go day and night, and the familiar cry of "hit the books" becomes their motto during dead week---only. Other than the school sponsored functions, the fraternities and sororities provide entertainment to supplement their social activities. Functions, formals, dances, dinners, mixers, and smokers all make the little "black book" the only book of importance.

And then, surprisingly enough, spring comes to Laramie. As soon as the sun comes up the tops of the convertibles come down and off we go, picnic baskets, golf clubs, fishing poles, blankets, radio and all. Off we go to some remote spot to relax from the rigors of a tiring and taxing winter.

And so it goes, year in and year out, and, into the end, most of us do finally make it into that cruel world, degree in hand, and stars in our eyes. But in the meantime the only way to best express the feelings of the lonely, bewildered students would be to quote his lifelong hero, Alfred E. Newman, and say, "What, me worry?"

Athletic Dorm

"Wimp" Hewgley, Director of the Athletic Dorm, and son.

The Athletic Dorm houses the men who participate in the various collegiate sports sponsored by the University of Wyoming. The dorm was built in 1928 and at that time was the only men's dorm at the University. Since the construction of Wyoming Hall, it has been used exclusively to house athletes.

The Dorm has several social functions during the year with the sororities and womens' dorms. In the spring, celebrating the end of spring football practice, the annual dorm "picnic-beer-bust" is staged somewhere in the foothills around Laramie.

C. W. "Wimp" Hewgley is the Dorm Director and lives, with his family, in an apartment in the dorm. The President of the dorm this year was Hugh Lowham. Secretary-Treasurer was Dick Hawthorne, and Bob Hansen was social chairman.

And as Romeo sang to Ophelia in lusty tones, Oedipus Rex slapped King Lear on the arm and said, "Quit!"

If you are a freshman or have ever been a freshman at the University of Wyoming, there is no doubt that you have come into contact with a member of “W” Club. The coming of a new school year signifies the need of every freshman to have a cherished “beanie” and the members of “W” Club have the annual responsibility of seeing to it that every freshman is in possession of a “beanie.”

“W” Club is composed of athletes who have participated in one phase of varsity athletics at the university. Once the athlete has earned a varsity letter, he is eligible to become a member of the Wyoming Letterman’s Club. “W” Club was led by its president, Ken Rochlitz, this year and, as usual, the members celebrated the conclusion of another successful year by staging their annual dance.

PLAYBOY PARTY JOKES

If you're an eligible bachelor, here are some tips on how to woo and win:

1. Girls like compliments. When calling on your girl, say something nice - like- "Gee your face is clearing up."

2. On the first few dates with a gal, take her to the best restaurants. After you get to know her better you can even take her inside.

3. If your girl accepts your proposal of marriage, be generous. Give her a rock as big as a diamond.

Sam: "Do you know what happened at the party last night?"

Ham: "Sure, up to a certain pint!"

Speaking of bachelors, a friend of mine gave me a good definition of one the other day: a man who believes in life, liberty, and the happiness of pursuit.

Louise: "Do you have to drive with one arm?"

Lou: "Sure- you don't think this car can steer itself, do you?"

Alimony is like buying oats for a dead horse.

An English prof was impressing upon his freshman class the advantages of acquiring a large vocabulary. "Say a word over out loud to yourself five times," he advised, "and it will be yours for life." A pert frosh in the front row closed her eyes and breathed ecstatically, "Walter, Walter, Walter, Walter, Walter . . ."

The eight-year old lad was asked by his grandfather, "What is the first thing you notice about a girl?" The lad wise beyond his years promptly replied, "That depends on which direction she's facing!"

"Some sororities will do anything to get a queen!"

Chosen above six other candidates to reign as Miss Playmate is Kappa Sigma's candidate, Nancy Twitchell. Miss Twitchell is a Freshman in Home Economics, a Corpette, and a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

The men of Acacia fraternity this year received the tenth year of service from their housemother, Mrs. Hamilton. Well-known for their enthusiasm, the Acacia men continued their trend this year intramurally by placing first in bowling and third in basketball. On the social scene, the exotic Night on the Nile Costume dance, where everyone goes native Egyptian, is supplemented by the Pledge Dance, the Spring Formal, and various types of house parties. In the spring, these men venture South of the Boarder for the annual Black and Gold Convention, in the Acacia Rocky Mountain Conference in Denver. ## Ancient Agers

Founded in 1913 on the University of Wyoming campus, the ATO's since that time have maintained an active and enthusiastic interest in the program of the Greek system. Socially, Alpha Tau Omega holds four big dances a year, the Pledge Dance, the Bowry Ball, the Sack Dance, and the Spring Formal. Not to be outdone academically, the men of ATO have placed above the all-men's average for six straight years. This year the chapter was again high in the overall intermural rankings following a second place finish in 1962. The ATO's were ably headed by their president, Terry Hearne, and once again were pleased to have the services of their housemother, Mom Beihn.

Old Stags

The members of the Farmhouse Fraternity are very active in all phases of agriculture. They have members on the Wyoming rodeo team, the judging teams, and in the Agriculture honorary. Farmhouse was led this year by their president, Ed Rabou, and their housemother, Mrs. C. B. Jenkins, who has been with them for the past six years. Social events of the year included the Spring Formal and two Western stomps, with several picnics and breakfasts held annually. Farmhouse has been on the Wyoming fraternal scene since 1950 and the national scene since 1903.

“The Four Rosers”

The men of Kappa Sigma fraternity dwell in the first house on the “Row”. They began the new school year with one surprise after another!?? Their yearly social activities included the usual houseparties, plus their major dances- The Playboy theme Pledge Dance, the Spring Formal, and the costumed, notorious “Stomp”. The K Sigs are known also for their intramural competitive spirit. This year these men placed first in the Homecoming Sing and participated in the other Homecoming and Greek Week activities.

Canadian Clubbers

Once again the "Phi Delts" have continued to live up to the high standards of their fraternity which was founded nationally in 1848 and locally in 1934. As members of Phi Delta Theta these men have consistently attained good scholastic marks and are always threats when competing for a share of the intramural trophy. The Pledge Masquerade Ball, the Winter Formal, and the Bermuda Ball are all highlights of the chapter's social calendar. The Phi Delts also partake in an annual Community Service and last year were winners of the National Phi Delta Theta Community Service Day Trophy. Leading the chapter as president this year was Terry Hunter and guiding the lives of the chapter's men was their housemother of eight years, Mrs. William Frisbe.

Old Grandads

The Sig Alphas have once again completed a successful year topped with the realization that a large crop of new pledges and actives should make next year even better. SAE's were one of the three or four fraternities fighting for the intramural trophy which they have won three out of the last four years. For the second year in a row, the Chapter won the float building contest and placed third in the Homecoming Sing.

Shaggy beards are a sign of one of the Sig Alpha's infamous dances, the Bushmen's Hop. Other dances are the Undertaker's Ball, the Pledge Dance, and the Spring Formal.

The new house mother for SAE this year was Mrs. Barbara Anderegg and the president for the spring semester was Dick Scarlett.

Old Crows

The men of Sigma Chi fraternity are active in every phase of Campus life. Although they are last on the "Row" the Sigma Chi's do not take a back seat on the Campus social scene. Several major events in their night life include the Baby Ball, the Sweetheart Ball, and the notorious Jungle Jump. In the merry month of May, the Sig Derby brings to life several types of spring fever in the form of kissing, egg throwing, and beautiful shape contests. The Wyoming Sigma Chi's lay claim to the best chapter and to being the outstanding member of their province. This year Sigma Chi placed first in intramurals and had five members in Who's Who. Mrs. Shelby Berry is the housemother and the president this year was Jack Mueller.

Old Foresters

The men of Sigma Nu are well-known for their academic prowess, both here at Wyoming and nationally. Besides being able competitors in the intramural games, they tend to repeat this in campus social life. Besides the houseparties, the Pledge Dance (which proved somewhat disastrous??), the White Rose Formal, and Chanticleer are their yearly social entries in the 7 p.m. to 1 a.m. section of the day. Another "wee hours of the morning" event is the annual Christmas Tree-top Ambush, held on top of the roof of their house. The Sigma Nus placed 2nd in the Homecoming Sing and participated in the other Homecoming and Greek Week activities. This year, they welcomed Mrs. Una Smith as their new housemother.

Old Charterers

President, Rudy Sanford

The men of Sigma Phi Epsilon are engaged in many phases of campus life. Besides ranking high in scholarship, the Sig Eps participate actively in all of the Homecoming and Greek Week activities. Their night life includes the Pledge Dance, Queen of Hearts Ball, Winter Formal, and the notorious Reveille Round-up, a six a.m. doughnut and coffee breakfast for the sorority gals. This early morning round-up, accompanied by horn blowing and bucket beating, has various connotations on the different sides of the Row. In the spring, a serious leadership conference is held with the Colorado chapters, and later a gay, formal dance is enjoyed in Denver.

The men of Tau Kappa Epsilon have been on the Wyoming campus scene since 1949. Although their house is located off campus, the TKE's have many night life activities. Their major dances of the year include the Costumed French Cabaret (complete with French dresses and colored garters), the Red Carnation Ball, and the Senior Sponsored Blue Ball. They also have various other activities such as house-parties, Christmas caroling, and the TKE weekends, held in conjunction with other TKE chapters in Colorado. This year these men painted the city fire hydrants for a civic project.

Life Goes On in Crane Hall

In the new Crane Hall we can see that life goes on the same as in any other living residence, old or new on campus. The new rooms offer personal phones, separate desks, and what would appear to be perfect studying conditions.

Sometimes I "delight in disorder."

Brand New Crane-Hill Hall Houses 800 Men Students

"Just one more show, then we'll go study."

When the clock rolls around to the two o'clock mark, a midnight buffet can be seen in many a room at Crane-Hill. After all, a fellow has got to eat to keep alive!

And, as the Long Ranger galloped into the sunset, Tonto muttered, "How?"

Hill Hall, the new dorm situated close to campus, is a beautiful addition to UW. It, and Crane Hall, fit into the campus building theme with their native stone exteriors. Towering above all the other building on campus, this dorm houses 420 men in its six stories.

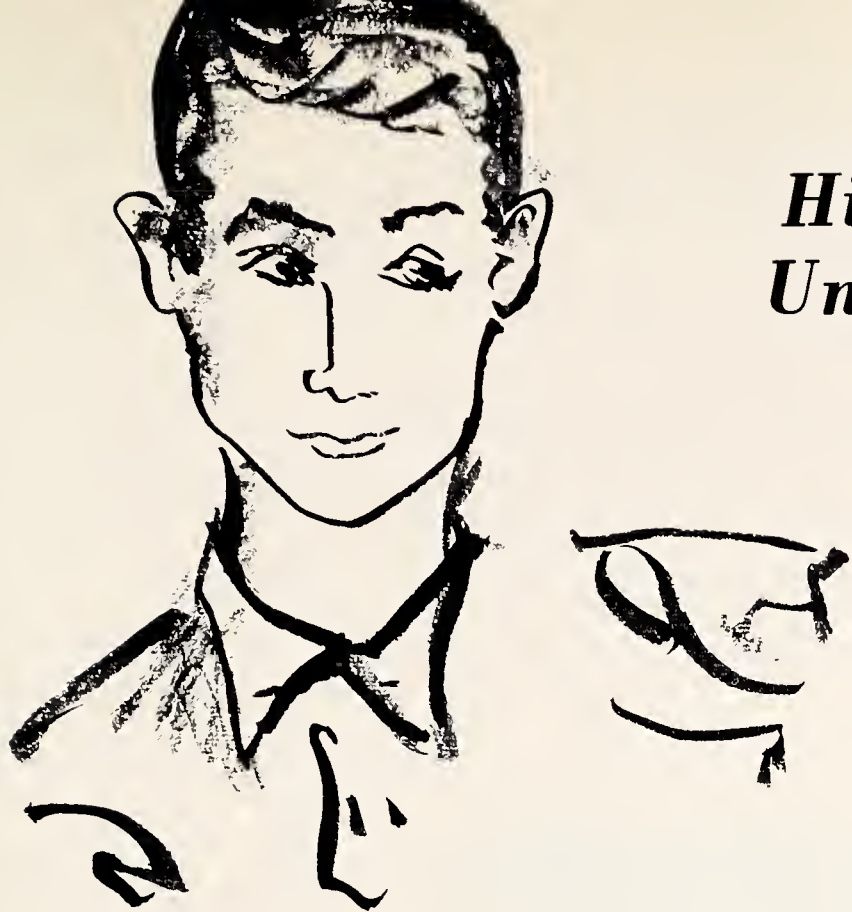

TV lounges, snack area, and elevators are standard equipment in this modern dorm. The two-man rooms each have a telephone, a full-length window on one wall, and wood paneling with brick combinations on the other walls. The halls and room floors are tiled in red, green, and brown colors which fit in with the interior color scheme.

Mr. Welker Bishop and Mr. Eugene Takach are Director and Assistant Director respectively of the Crane-Hill Complex.

Hill Hall Houses University Men Students

The closest section to campus of the new Hill-Crane Hall is Hill. It houses 400 men in almost luxurious rooming conditions. The council, elected by the men of the dorm, arrange for social functions and athletic events in which the men of the dorm may participate. As the guys in the hall all say, "the biggest part of one's college education is the social activities," which is true.

Hill Hall's rooms are beautiful by day, and even more beautiful by night, as is shown in this photo by Wyo photographer, Ed Rasmussen. Facilities for study make it easier to dig into assignments, however it also stimulates an interest in letter writing.

Wyoming Hall Residents

Wyo Hall is the scene of diligent study in such studies as: Introduction to Cheesecake Photos, Modern Sex Appreciation, and Ancient History of Hiphuggers.

Elected officials strive to direct the hall so that dorm life will be a pleasure to the boys who live there.

"Big dance of the year tonight. I wonder what my Mom would say if I should put a blade in my razor?"

Campus Life in Wyo Hall

A typical picture of quiet campus life can be found in Wyo Hall. Scenes like this can be seen there every night as the guys decide whether they go to the show or go for a beer before studying. It ends one way or the other, or they just give up and do both.

Some cannot conform to movies and beer so they settle down to watch television. Those who can't conform to the one-eyed monster dawn dark glasses and enjoy the company of silent companions.

After the girls are taken in, the beer is drunk, and television is shut off, and the men have a midnight "get-together" to stimulate study. These sessions often turn into the higher study of bridge.

This is why our grade averages are so high!

Karen Hill Chosen Homecoming Queen

Bubbling with enthusiasm rightfully describes Karen Hill, who was chosen Homecoming Queen for 1962. The brown-eyed beauty is an A & S Junior from Casper, Wyoming. Karen served the University as a member of the union committee and spurred all UW's teams on in the capacity of Pepster.

Living Groups Pick Candidates.

The fall semester at the University of Wyoming started off in style with the election of Homecoming queen. Every woman's group selected a candidate to represent them. With these elections, campaigning swings into action slogans ranging from "She's a Peach" to "Buttons and Bows".

Amidst this campaigning, primary elections were held and the field of eleven contestants was narrowed down to two. Karen Hill and Lila Gallagher then went on to compete in the final election. The election results were kept a secret and were finally announced at the Homecoming Sing.

The sunshine of a fall day was brightened with the excitement of the Homecoming parade and the appearance of Attendant Lila Gallagher and Homecoming Queen Karen Hill.

As Student Body President Frank Mendicino crowned Queen Karen, she radiated the thrill of elected royalty.

After a long evening of song and speeches at the Homecoming Sing suspense was broken by the announcement of Homecoming Queen. Receiving the news are Lila, Tom Lee, Student Body Vice-President, and Karen.

Electrical Engineers Present Nancy Twitchell

The Society of Electrical Engineers, one of the larger of the engineering groups scored a hit this year with their candidate for Engineer's Queen. A striking brown eyed brunette, Miss Twitchell reigned over the Engineer's Ball in December. She is a native of Laramie and a freshman at the University this year majoring in Home Economics. Miss Twitchell's poise and taste in clothes have also won for her the title of Best Dressed Coed. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and Corpettes. Sewing and skiing are included among her favorite extracurricular pastimes.

Snow Queen Crowned

The ski slopes were crowded with snow early this March when the Snow Queen Contest was held. All women's living groups on campus selected a candidate for this contest. Posters, tags and more posters appeared two weeks before the election. The nine contestants were narrowed down to three finalists, Sue Hitchcock, Annette Menghina, and Delores Patik. The final voting was held the day of the Snow Carnival at the Medicine Bow Ski Lodge. The final outcome was announced at the Sno-Ball that night-- "Snow Queen for 1963, Sue Hitchcock."

Sue Hitchcock Snow Queen Kappa Kappa Gamma

Sue Hitchcock, sophomore in Arts and Science, was crowned 1963 Snow Queen. This brown haired, blue-eyed coed, earned well the crown of Snow Queen. A resident of Laramie, Sue actively participates in winter sports--skiing is, of course, her favorite. Sue is a member of the Air Force Angels, the University of Wyoming Band, and the Kappa Kappa Gamma social sorority.

In keeping with the tradition of the Old West, a "Cowboy" school elected their "Cowgirl" queen. Jennifer Stout, a green-eyed, brown haired, sophomore reigned as Belle of the Powder River Ball. With rope and hat in hand she captured the title from a field of nine contestants.

This Rawlins, Wyoming coed can be found riding her favorite horse, Chocolate, every spring for the University Rodeo Team and skiing in the winter on the U. W. Ski Team. Jennifer is a member of AWS and is historian of Pi Beta Phi sorority. Her major at the University is history and she is, of course, especially partial to the history of the West!

Miss Wool of Wyoming

Miss Wool of Wyoming of 1963, Miss Judy Wilson, was chosen at the annual contest held this spring. Judy hails from Cheyenne and is registered as a sophomore majoring in education. She belongs to Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. In May Judy will fly to San Angelo, Texas, where the national competition will be held. During the 1963-64 period Judy will travel throughout the state promoting wool.

Nancy Represents UW in Glamour Magazine

A shy smile backed up by an impeccable look aided 19-year-old Nancy Twitchell earn the "Best Dressed Coed" title on the University of Wyoming campus. Nancy, who has pretty hair and the knack for taking care of it, captured the admiration of UW's Sigma Delta Chi's, professional journalism society who selected Nancy from a group of six pretty semi-finalists. The campus contest was a part of GLAMOUR magazine's nationwide contest to select the 10 best-dressed college girls in America. The judges felt that Nancy had distinct individuality without being overly sophisticated.

Nancy stands 5'6" and wears a size nine dress. She is from Laramie and loves skiing, sewing, dancing and golf. Extra-curricular activities on campus includes singing, drilling with the Corpettes and attending basketball games (which she prefers to other spectator sports.)

The WYO's chief photographer, Robert Warner, who photographed many pretty girls since he arrived on campus last summer, expressed satisfaction with the assignment of numerous picture appointments with Nancy. "She always has a crisp, fresh appearance," declares Bob.

Vincent Price Selects WYO Beauties

Fifty-two "Beauties" on the Wyoming Campus competed for the title of "Wyo Beauty." Any single coed attending the University of Wyoming was eligible to enter an 8" X 10" picture of herself to the Wyo office. These pictures were then submitted to Vincent Price who selected fifteen finalists and five "beauties."

“They’re All So Pretty”.....

HE CAME—Vincent Price and WYO Editors, Anne Siren and Janyce Thomas, discuss contest rules.

exclaimed Vincent Price as he surveyed the rows and rows of photographs of the contestants for 1963 WYO Beauties.

Mr. Price, who was at the University of Wyoming on March 1, came to discuss the appreciation and enjoyment of the fine arts. Besides being a great actor on both stage and screen, he is also a noted art collector and critic. Naturally the WYO Editors were very pleased when he consented to choose the five top Beauties at UW.

Price's appreciation of "the finer things in life" is evidenced by the selections he made. As a man who enjoys the poetry of Walt Whitman, the paintings of James Whistler, and the characteristic drama of Tennessee Williams, Mr. Price seems to find great loveliness in nature and in natural beauty. The photographs he chose are those of co-eds who radiate happiness in their smiles.

Backstage, following his lecture, Price and the WYO Editors discussed the contest rules before he made his selections. Picking the winners was no easy job--as Price him-

After looking the pictures over carefully, Price tried to choose the winners rather quickly. "This is really the only way you can do it," he said. "Otherwise you see someone who reminds you of your cousin or your Aunt Maude and then it's too hard to decide."

But he did decide. And to Vincent Price who thanked us for the honor of being judge of the WYO Beauties, we say, "thank you" for picking five truly beautiful girls.

SATURDAY'S SEASON

By MIKE McDONNELL

Pre-Season Outlook

Lloyd Eaton, 45, a teacher of hard-hitting, body-punishing football, won the right, early in 1962, to take over where Bob Devaney left off.

Until Devaney left his head coaching position to take over the rein of Nebraska's sagging football fortunes, Eaton served with the distinction of being one of the finest defensive coaches in the nation.

Under his leadership Wyoming was consistently among the top defensive teams in the country. Four times the Pokes led the old Skyline Conference in defense. Three times they were ranked among the ten best in college football. In 1960 his stingy Cowboy defense was recognized as the best of the best. They were number one.

Eaton was almost everybody's favorite to take over as head coach. His selection was met with enthusiasm.

The job ahead wasn't an easy one. Under Devaney, Wyoming had won or tied for the last four Skyline crowns in a row. It was a tough act to follow.

With Eaton came a slightly new offense. With Eaton came a completely new staff. The only other old face in the fold was Wimp Hewgley. Hewgley, Devaney's old Freshman assistant took over as new offensive line coach.

The Cowboy football picture was so new they were even playing in a new league, the Western Athletic Conference.

In 1962 Wyoming, a school with a solid reputation for good football, was just about starting from scratch.

Lloyd Eaton teaches just one kind of football. It's a demanding kind of physical sport. It'll punish a player if he isn't in good physical condition. And it'll punish him if he isn't alert. It's the kind of football modern coaches have to teach—if they want to win. And want to win often.

A quick look at pre-season figures on this year's footballers and their expectations would leave a lot of questions why 1962 developed as it did. Judging Wyoming football, its new coach, its new offense or its players on what was supposed to happen would amount to more than a small mistake.

The Pokes opened drills in the fall ready to take the bull by the horns. The Cowboys had experienced men in every position. Of the men who earned their W in 1961, 22 were returning. The only real concerns in the experienced manpower department seemed to be at center and quarterback.

True, Wyoming had lost one of their all time greats with the departure of quarterback Chuck Lamson. Yet there seemed to be a lot of raw material waiting for a chance to prove itself.

There was depth everywhere to go along with the experience. Everywhere except center and quarterback.

The Cowboys were without their two top rushers from 1961—Lamson and Bob Bisacre, but from there on everybody was back. Sophomore backs were supposed to add even more punch to an already crunching ground attack.

Passing was supposed to gain in stature among the Cowboy offensive weapons. Seven of the top 10 receivers in 1961 were returning.

Cowboys Open Campaign With Win Over Montana

Wyoming's kicking game was also noted to be on the upswing with the arrival of a couple of talented sophomores; Dave Marion and George Squires.

And it went without saying that defense would again be tops. There was supposed to be plenty of experience in the line—and after all; the man who perfected the Cowboy defenses was still around.

The Picture Changes

To top off all of the other predictions, nearly every sportswriter in the area picked Wyoming to be at the top of the heap at the end of the 1962 season and take home the first WAC football crown.

However, even before the first whistle blew the picture began to change. Bill Levine, a junior guard, regarded by many as the Pokes' best lineman, was felled with a knee injury and was forced to sit out the season.

The Cowboys still seemed like they could be the team to beat. On September 15, the Pokes began in earnest a campaign of shock, injury, a great comeback attempt and finally, heartbreak.

Wyoming opened the season with an anything-but-convincing victory at the expense of the usually inept Montana Grizzlies. The Pokes charged out and scored early. Twice in fact only both scores were nullified by penalties. The Cowboys finally got the ball rolling with Dave Madia going over for the first touchdown late in the first half. Madia's score climaxed a 40 yard drive. The try for the extra point failed.

Wyoming's other score came in the fourth period on an 11 yard pass from junior quarterback Mike Wright to halfback, Mike Walker.

While they had trouble finding the right offensive combination the touted Cowboy defense was working well considering that the game was the first of the year. The Grizzlies threatened to score only twice. Montana was stopped by the clock in the first half when the gun ended the MSU drive on the Wyoming 10 yard line.

The other Montana threat came in the third period when the Grizzlies moved the ball to the Pokes 18. Alert Cowboy defenders ended the threat by smothering Montana's quarterback on a fourth down pass attempt.

Still, with all things considered, it wasn't a disappointing opener for the new Wyoming head coach. Except for one thing. The Cowboys' already shaky quarterback spot was minus one more.

Alan Frude, one of Eaton's most promising young signal callers, was injured. Frude broke his collarbone and was lost for the season. It started a parade of injuries that never ended. Because of them, the Cowboys had to use far more sophomores than was planned on. The inexperience showed up again and again in crucial situations.

Lobos Beat Pokes 25-21, Injuries Prove Costly

The Cowboys lost a big one in their league debut against the New Mexico Lobos. Led by their breakaway halfback, Bobby Santiago, the Lobos came from behind to down the Pokes 25-21 in their 1962 home opener.

It was Santiago who broke the Cowboy's back early in the second quarter. After tying the game with a hard-earned touchdown the Pokes let the 165 pound speedster take the ensuing kickoff and race 97 yards to score.

After the show was over Santiago had picked up 101 yards in 17 carries. The Lobo standout also connected with teammate Jim Ottmann on a scoring pass that covered over 60 yards.

Following Santiago's electrifying 97 yard touchdown, Wyoming took the ball and carried it out to midfield while sticking to their familiar crunching type ground game. Poke end, Mack Balls brought the home crowd to its feet with a driving finger-tip catch of quarterback Mike Wright's 43 yard aerial. Six plays and two penalties later halfback Bud Spicer went six yards around left end to score. George Squires split the uprights for the second time and the Cowboys hung onto a shaky 14-13 lead at halftime.

New Mexico took the second half kickoff to their own 18 and proceeded to march downfield in 16 plays to score. The try for the point failed again but the Lobos had a lead that they didn't give up again.

No sooner did the Pokes start another drive when Ottmann picked off a pass on his own 46 and raced all the way to Wyoming's two-yard line before he was pulled down from behind. New Mexico took the ball over from the one several plays later. Again the conversion attempt was wide and the score was 25-14.

The Cowboys received the kickoff and took the ball 67 yards in eleven plays for their third touchdown. Rick Desmaris went the final yard for the score. Squires made good his third conversion of the day and the score stood at 25-21. And that's where it stayed.

The defeat was the first at home for the Cowboys since 1959, when the Falcons from the Air Force Academy, took the home opener.

The score wasn't the only place the Pokes took a beating. As if Eaton wasn't having enough trouble ironing out early season problems, four more starters came out of the lineup on the injured list.

Vince Zimmer, the Poke's standout at center, injured his knee and was forced to watch the rest of the games from the sidelines. Balls dislocated his shoulder and was lost to Eaton for several crucial games. Tackle Bruce Wright (captain) suffered several bruised ribs and was also lost for several weeks.

Glen Hopkins, another tackle, was slowed down because of an injured hand.

At this point Eaton remarked that the injuries were too serious and too numerous not to play a part in future Wyoming performances. Mike Walker, star halfback of the 1961 squad, was available for only limited action; another contributing factor.

Washington State's Hugh Campbell Proves Too Much For Pokes

Things didn't get any brighter for Eaton the following weekend when the Pokes encountered the Cougars from Washington State.

State's all-American end Hugh Campbell caught seven passes during the afternoon to equal a national record for passes caught during a varsity career.

The Pokes scored first when Rick Demarias scored from the one yard line, six plays after end Lonnie Dunn recovered a Cougar fumble deep in Washington State territory. Squire's extra point attempt was blocked and the Cowboys led 6-0.

The Cougars took the kickoff and marched to a score in short order. Halfback Clarence Williams went the final 22 yards for the touchdown. The try for the point was good and Wyoming trailed by one point.

Poke tackle Wilbur Radosovich wasted no time in pouncing on a Cougar fumble on the WSU 27. The Cowboys were unable to take advantage again. The Poke threat was stopped when Mike Wright was thrown for a big loss on a third-and-one situation at the Cougar 18. The score at halftime remained 7-6.

Wyoming charged out the second half and took the ball 60 yards for a score with quarterback Jim Hill going the last four yards. Squires conversion attempt was blocked again leaving the Pokes with a 12-7 lead. The Pokes lead was short lived however. The visitors filled the air with passes and the Cowboys just couldn't stop them.

The next WSU score came on a 27 yard aerial to Campbell. Again the conversion was good and it was 14-12.

Early in the fourth stanza Campbell got on the receiving end of another scoring pass, this one good for ten yards. WSU converted and the score was 21-12.

After being stopped on the next series the Cowboy's Dave Marion punted to the WSU three. The Cougars couldn't move the ball either and were forced to punt from deep in their own territory. The kick was high and the wind took it out of bounds on the WSU 29.

The Pokes could do no better than to move the ball to the Cougar 10 yard line. At that point Squires put his talented toe to work and added three points to the Cowboy cause with a 26 yard field goal.

The Cowboys then took to the air in a desperate attempt to close the gap, but to no avail.

Vitale Honored

The big standout in the Poke's losing performance was turned in by senior guard Joe Vitale. Vitale spent most of the afternoon in the Cougar backfield. Vitale was rewarded for his tough play by being named lineman of the week in the WAC.

Lonnie Dunn was added to the Wyoming casualty list with a twisted knee.

Squires Lead Cowboys

Laramie's beautiful fall weather turned its back on the Cowboy football followers the next Saturday but at last the sun came out on Lloyd Eaton as his Pokes found a victim in the Utah Redskins.

George Squires turned in a record tying three field goal effort to lead the slumping Pokes to their second victory of the year. Squires also added an extra point to bring his afternoon's scoring production to 10. All three of Squires's three pointers traveled 25 yards.

Eaton was finally all smiles. Not only did Squires come through but the Pokes also came up with a consistent signal caller in Jim Hill. Hill made good on eight of fifteen passes for 104 yards and picked up 29 yards on the ground.

The game, played in a freezing drizzle, was keynoted by Redskin fumbles; three in the first period.

Squires opened the scoring early in the first quarter with a field goal after a Utah fumble. Two plays later Utah fumbled again and Jim Hill took it from the one, five plays later.

Squires added the point and with over a minute left in the first quarter the Cowboys led 10-0.

The Pokes kicked off to the Redskins for the third time and for the third time the Redskins fumbled. Hill quickly moved the Cowboys within range of the Utah goal where Squires put his toe to work again making the score 13-0.

Late in the half the Utes got on the scoring trail with Redskin quarterback Larry Hartzfelt, eating up most of the yardage with passes. The score came on a five yard ariel to Roy Jefferson who also added an extra point. The halftime score was 13-7.

The Redskins came out the second half and immediately drove to the Wyoming four yard line. The Cowboy defense came through in its old form and the series ended up with the Utes back on the nine. Hill then led the Pokes to within range of the enemy's uprights where he called on Squires for the third time. This time the sure-footed sophomore was perfect, his kick padded the margin by three more points.

Final score: Wyoming 16 - Utah 7.

Pokes Make it two in A Row With Win Over Texas Western.

Eaton managed to keep his battered Cowboy forces on the winning trail the next week with a promising 14-6 win over Texas Western.

Eaton and his charges came home from El Paso especially optimistic due to the fact that TW had proven itself superior to New Mexico the previous week. It looked like the Cowboys might have found a winning combination of spirit and strength to make their presence unpleasant for opponents on coming Saturdays.

Halfback Dave Madia set up Poke's first score with a 47 yard punt return to the Miner 24, late in the third period. Fullback Wayne Linton did most of the ball-carrying and it was Linton who took it over for the score from a yard out nine plays later. George Squires' attempted extra point was wide and the Cowboys had a slim 6-0 lead going into the final quarter.

The Miners tied it up in a hurry with Bob Mortimer going 26 yards for the touchdown early in the fourth period. TW missed on the conversion attempt and the score was deadlocked, 6-6.

Poke quarterback Jim Hill took over from there and guided the Cowboys 75 yards to the Miner end zone. Hill went the final distance for the score. Hill also took the ball over to rack up a two point conversion. The winning Poke drive was keyed by the crunching runs of Linton. Linton cracked the middle of the Miner line for gains of 15, 14, 10 and 6 yards.

The touted Cowboy defenses put the stop on several TW threats and twice the Miners were unsuccessful in trying to score with field goals.

The game was the first meeting between the two teams and pushed the resurgent Pokes over the .500 percent mark for the first time since the season opener.

Everything Works, Pokes Smother Arizona, 31-8

The brightest hour of the season for the up-and-coming Cowboys came at Homecoming.

A rock-ribbed defense and potent offensive display turned the trick for the Pokes as they sent the Arizona Wildcats down to a convincing 31-8 defeat.

The Cowboys ran up a 28 point halftime advantage and then coasted to a 31-8 victory.

Sorino

Busia

It was then Desmarias' turn again as he went the last yard in a 49 yard drive that took eight plays. Squires came through with his second conversion and the scoreboard read 28-0 at halftime.

The second half was a different story. The Wildcats came out and drove down to the Poke five. Again the Cowboy defense stood the test and Arizona was stopped short of the goal. The Pokes couldn't hold them off forever though and Cat quarterback Bill Brechler went over after the Cowboys fumbled the ball away deep in their own territory. Brechler's aerial to Jim Faulks was good and Wyoming's lead was cut to 28-8.

Wyoming wasn't finished though. Again George Squires got the call and was perfect with a 28 yard field goal. That capped the scoring for the afternoon and Eaton's men were on top; 31-8.

Eaton was well pleased with his team's performance; and justly so. The Cowboys looked like they had at last found themselves. Again there were hopes that Wyoming might turn up at the top of the heap.

A Costly Win

It looked like a time to be shouting for joy. It wasn't. Again the casualty list took its toll. Guard, John Sorino bruised his hip but worst of all Jim Hill broke his hand. After coming up at last with the right signal caller, Eaton would have to start looking all over again.

Next week it looked like the Pokes might be getting used to filling in the holes left by injuries. Jeff Hartman, a sophomore, stepped into Hill's shoes and showed the Cowboys the way to their fourth straight win.

Cowboys Unveil Three Unit System in 28-7 Victory Over CSU

Eaton tried spreading his healthy men around and went with a new three unit system. There was an all-around unit called the white team, an offensive unit called the brown team and a special defensive force called the Rustlers. It was the Rustlers who stole the show.

Guard, John Sorino grabbed a CSU fumble on the first play from scrimmage and the Pokes were off and running.

It took the hungry Cowboys just three plays to reach the end zone with Rustler fullback Jim Bublitz going the last two yards for the score. George Squires booted the extra point to make it 7-0 with only minutes gone.

The Aggies were unable to move the next time they got the ball, and Wyoming took over on their own 49. Ten plays later Hartman passed 11 yards to Tom Delaney for the TD. The kick was no good and the Cowboys held onto an early 13 point lead.

From there the Pokes attack slowed down and the Aggies managed to close the score to 13-7 by halftime. The CSU tally came on a seven yard scamper by quarterback, John Christensen.

The Cowboys wasted no time in taking charge again in the second half. Hartman's running and passing led the Pokes most of the 67 yards to the Aggie end zone. Mike Walker added key runs to keep the Cowboy march moving.

Mike Wright went the final yard to give the Pokes a 19-7 lead. An attempt two point conversion failed and the score stood.

The Cowboys got their final TD on a one yard plunge by Bublitz just as the third period came to a close. Again the try for the extra point was no good and the score read 25-7.

Wyoming drove deep into CSU territory once again but could move no farther than the 17 yard stripe. On the fourth down, Eaton sent in his ace in the hole, George Squires, and the talented sophomore's foot proved true again as he kicked a perfect 34 yard three pointer.

Eaton was well pleased with his team's performance and nearly emptied the bench in the late minutes so that more men could gather the valuable experience that had been hurting the Pokes.

The win over the hapless CSU crew (their 22nd defeat in a row) left the Cowboys with a 5-2 mark. Not bad for a team that had dropped two of their first three contests. It seemed for sure that the Pokes had settled down to consistent football, winning. They hadn't.

The Cowboys were anxious to keep their streak going as they prepared to do battle with the rugged Air Force Academy. The Falcons had a couple of losses but they had been playing some of the best teams in the nation. The game was rated as about even. The teams were rated even. After the game the statistics were almost even. The score was far from even.

Final score was Air Force 35 Wyoming 14. What hurt the Cowboys as much or more than anything was that the loss killed their momentum. Just when it looked like the Pokes had jelled and gotten over their sophomore mistakes all the problems were back again.

The Cowboys weren't run off the field by any means that Saturday afternoon. They just couldn't get together. Mistakes cost them the game.

Poke fullback Wayne Linton fumbled on the second play from scrimmage and the Falcons wasted no time in turning that mistake into a touchdown. The conversion was good and the AFA led 7-0.

The Pokes then took the ball and charged deep into Falcon land. An exchange of fumbles followed with the Pokes ending up with the ball again.

Rick Desmarais went the two yards for the first Poke score. Squire's kick was good and the Cowboys were back in the ball game.

The AFA countered with another touchdown of their own. The PAT was good and the Falcons were out in front to stay. Wyoming couldn't get going as Hartman fumbled the ball in his own territory. The Cadets took advantage again and the score was 21-7 at the half.

The Falcons weren't about to sit on their lead. They opened the second half with another touchdown march. And for the fourth time the kick was perfect. The Pokes were behind by 21.

The Cowboys finally found the right combination and put together a 79 yard drive in the fourth quarter. Desmarais went the last two yards for the TD. Squires came through with the extra point and the Pokes trailed 28-14.

An onside kick was successful and Cowboy hopes came alive. Joy was short lived for the Cowboy rooters though as the Falcons picked off a Jeff Hartman pass to end the Cowboy threat. After another exchange of interceptions the AFA put the Pokes out of the picture for good.

The Falcons wound up with the ball on the Cowboy 16 and took it over in two plays. The PAT was good and the game was over. Air Force 35, Wyoming 14.

The Air Force loss seemed to be the straw that broke the camel's back for the Pokes. Their momentum was gone.

USU Brands Wyoming a 4th Loss

The following Saturday the Pokes lost their second straight. This time at the hands of old Skyline relative, Utah State. The Cowboys opened up with a quick TD with Desmarias covering most of the yardage. The score came on a ten yard aerial from Hartman to half-back, Mike Schutte. From there on it was all Utah State.

Wyoming couldn't handle the troublesome Aggies from Logan. USU came out way ahead in both passing and rushing yardage. The first downs were in favor of the Aggies 16-7.

Rick Desmarias is pounded to the ground by AFA defenders.

Poke fullback, Jim Bublitz is stopped for short yardage

Cowboys Wind Up Season With Heartbreaking Loss to BYU

In face of all the recent tough luck the Cowboys still had reason to be happy. WAC leader, New Mexico, had fallen to BYU and all the Pokes had to do was win over the lightly regarded Cougars the next week to be crowned the first WAC football champs.

But the Cowboys still had injuries—a lot of them. As it turned out the Cowboys appeared to be on their way to the crown when Eldon Fortie, BYU's great all-around-back came off the bench and led the Cougars to a shocking victory.

Coach Eaton attributed the final season's results to the two things that had plagued the Cowboys all along; injury and inexperience.

Cowboy Cagers Have Losing Record

Forward Randy Richardson (50) goes high in the air to deflect a shot. Al Eastland (52) looks on.

Wyoming's 1962-63 basketball record was the best the Cowboys have had since 1957-58.

Not only that, but the Pokes put together the most powerful cage offense in the school's history. The 71.6 points a game average overshadowed the 66.7 mark established last year.

Although the won-lost record wasn't to be shouted about, it left a felling of optimism among Wyoming basketball fans.

Most of the optimistic outlook centered around Coach Bill Stranigan's sophomore sensation, Flynn Robinson. Robinson broke three single-season scoring standards to establish himself as one of the all-time greats in Cowboy cage history. Robinson broke Joe Capua's record of 637 points in a season by tallying 682 in 26 games. Another record was Robinson's 26.2 scoring average. His 255 field goals were also good to top Tony Windis's record of 219 set in 1957-58. Climaxing Robinson's great debut was his being named to the honorable mention All America Team by both the AP and the UPI. Robinson was also a unanimous choice for the all-conference five.

The Pokes as a team also managed to get into the record breaking department this year. In the season finale against Utah, the Cowboys hit 40 field goals, good to wipe out the old mark of 37 set against New Mexico in 1957-58.

Basketball fortunes didn't stop going up here though; this winter the Pokes enjoyed the largest home crowds since 57-58. This year's figure of 44,945 surpassed last year's by over 16,000.

The Cowboys began the cage campaign with a promising loss to the extremely powerful Wichita five, 83-72. Even in this first game against such formidable foes the Pokes showed that they would have plenty to offer this year. Robinson got off to a great start scoring over 80 points and he never stopped.

The Cowboys then evened the score with a 94-77 trouncing of North Dakota State. The following week saw them look surprisingly weak in a lopsided loss to the Kansas Jayhawks.

Strannigan's forces finally put together two in a row with wins over South Dakota State and potent Drake. The Drake upset was particularly sweet, but there were bigger wins still to come.

The Cowboys then traveled to the coast where they dropped a couple of decisions to some fine California teams: Stanford and California.

Next stop on the schedule was the All-College tournament at Oklahoma City. Underdogs from the start, the Pokes made believers out of everybody in the tournament. The Poke five wasted no time in knocking off highly regarded Creighton 80-74. The Cowboys roared back the following night with a heart-stopping one point victory over the host team, Oklahoma City. They put Wyoming in the finals against the nation's highest scoring and second ranked team, Loyola of Chicago.

Still the Pokes proved their right to be on the floor. The Cowboys didn't let up for a second and gave Loyola some anxious moments before bowing 93-82. To put the icing on the cake, Flynn Robinson walked off with the tournament's most valuable player award. From here on it was a season of ups and downs for Wyoming.

The Cowboys sank to a season low by losing four encounters in a row.

At last the Cowboys got back on the winning trail with an 84-72 win over hapless Arizona to even their conference mark at 1-1. The following night Wyoming scored one of its biggest wins in history; certainly the biggest in many years.

The nation's third and fourth (AP and UPI) ranked team met the Pokes in a packed fieldhouse. Although it was 25 below on the outside the Cowboys were on fire and upset Arizona State, 88-81. Robinson led the way with 25 but this was a team win, all the way through. For a time it looked like ASU might not make runaway of the conference race as was predicted.

The Cowboys kept moving by taking games from the Air Force and Denver.

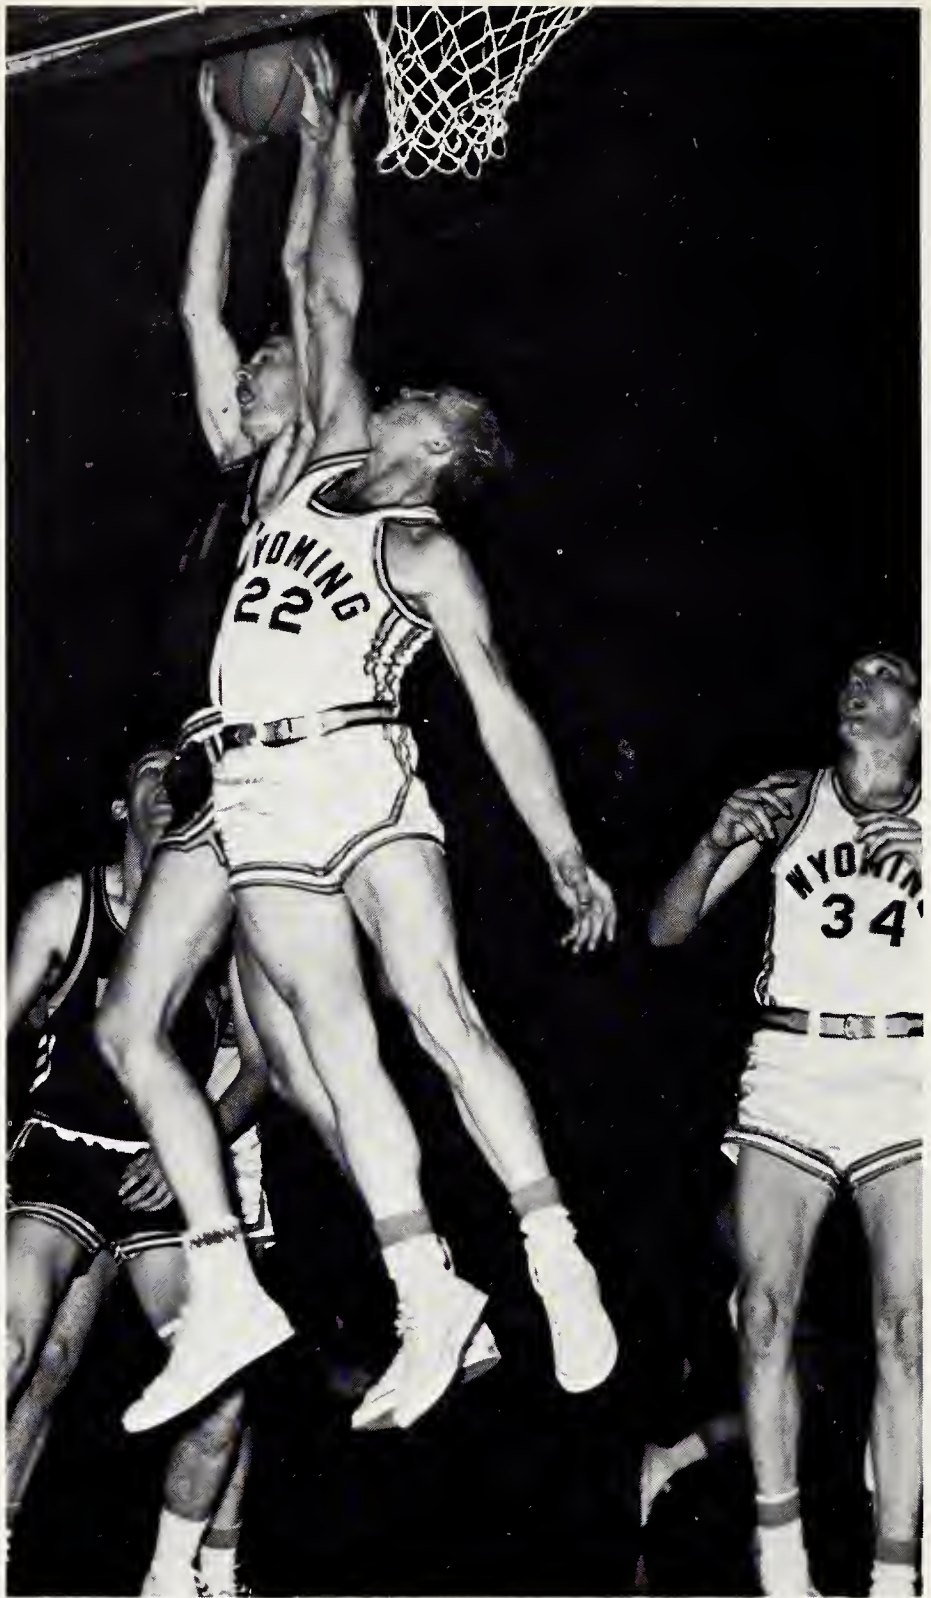

Then the Pokes hit the road again and this is when the roof caved in. The Pokes dropped a pair of conference contests in Utah to wreck their title hopes.

But the Cowboys didn't give up; they came back with a league win over New Mexico and a non-conference victory over DU.

But that was all; Strannigan's five couldn't capture a win in their last four outings. All were conference games.

But back to the optimistic note. Coach Strannigan will have five returnees next year besides the touted Robinson, Randy Richardson, Ron Long, Steve Frenchik, Jack Carr, and Mick Kaul.

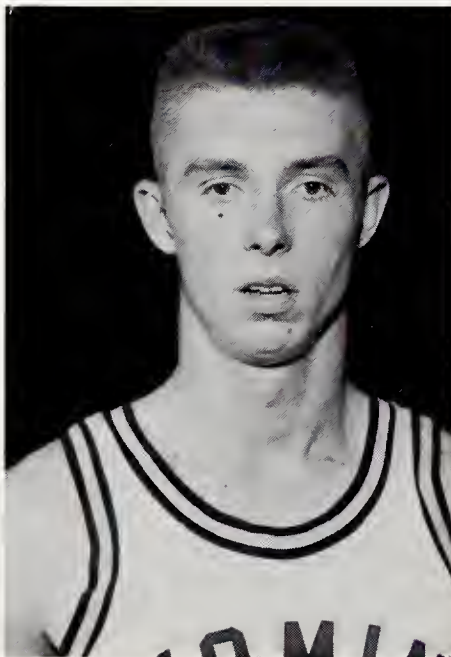

Missing from the line-up will be: big Al Eastland, Bob Hanson, Ken Rochlitz, Don Hatten, and Fred Collins.

Guard Bob Hanson (22) goes up in vain for a rebound. Gary Meckelburg (34) looks on.

COWBOY SKI TEAM GETS NEW COACH

Four of six lettermen returned this year to serve under coach Ray Heid in his first season as Poke ski mentor.

Heid served under former ski coach Wimp Hewgley as an assistant last year.

Coach Heid is also a former four way skier and team captain of the University of Wyoming ski team.

Lettermen on this year's team were Jim Guest, Pete McNiff, Ole Skinner and Doug Dion.

So far this winter the Poke skiers have placed fourth in three meets and third in one other.

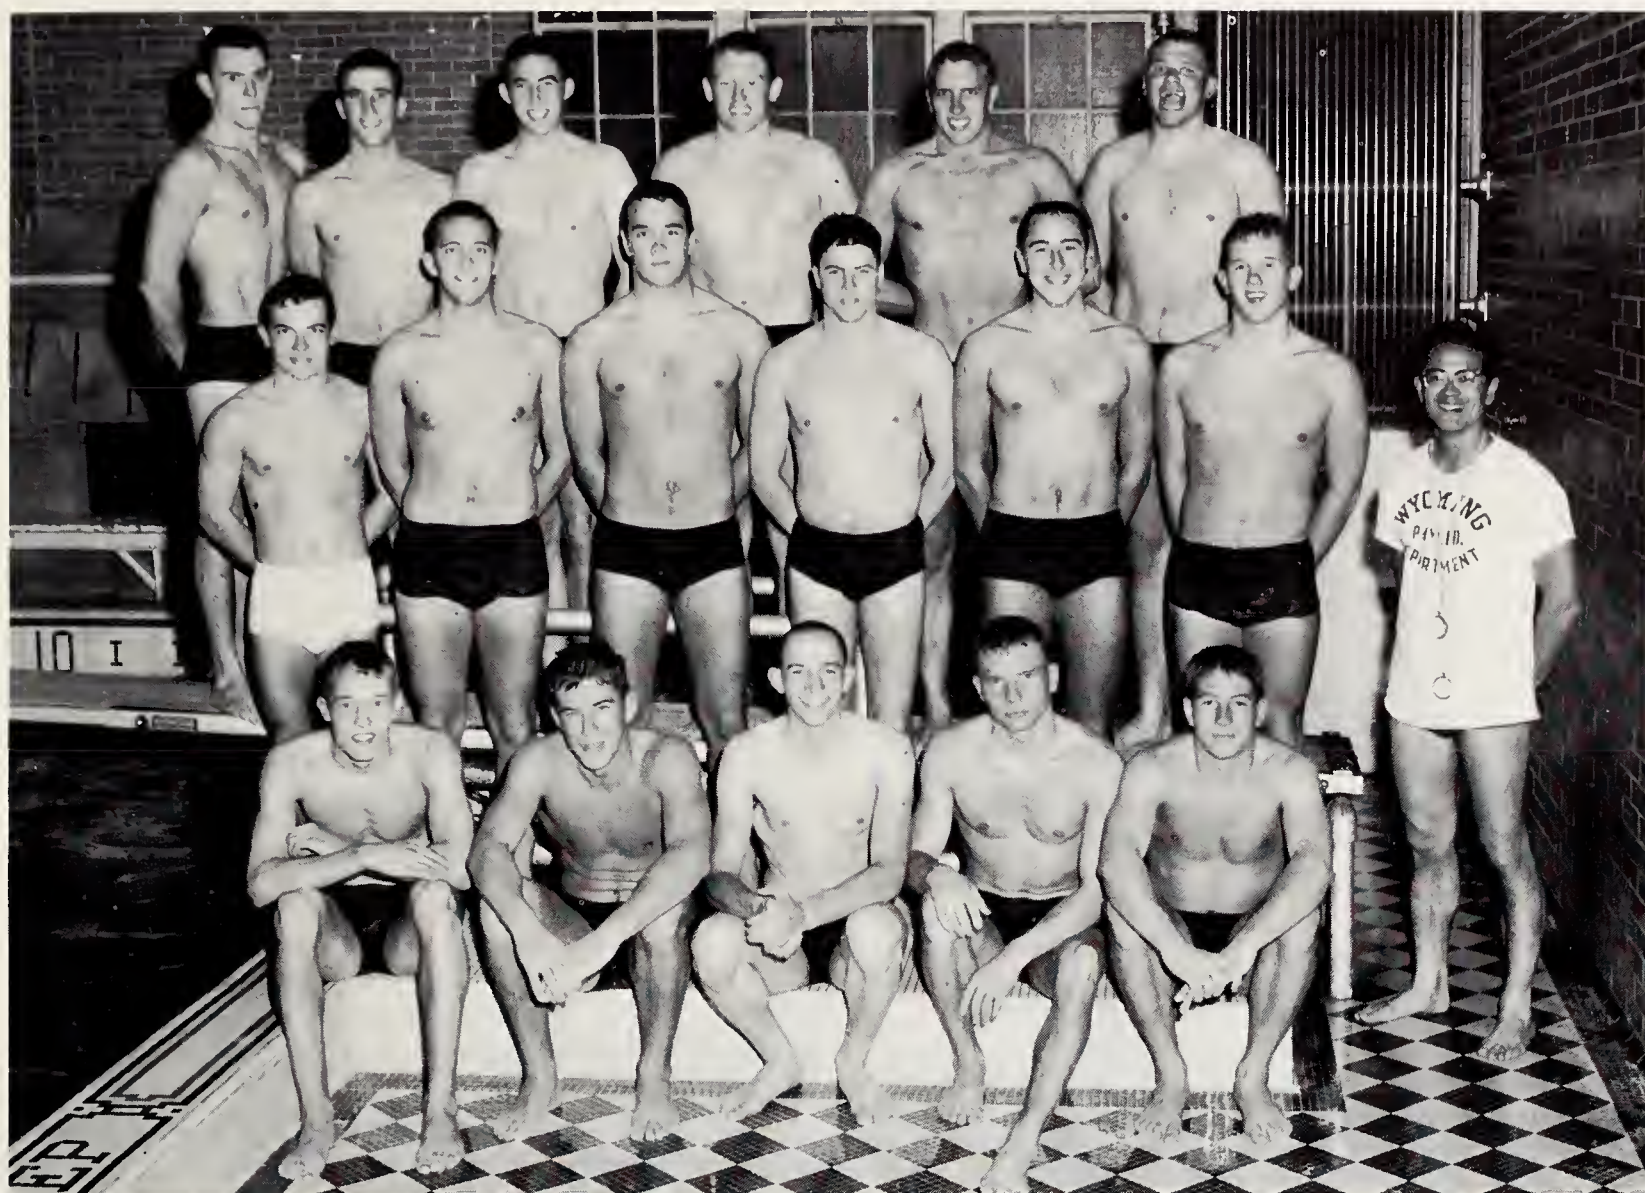

Coach Heid and his men have but one meet left as the WYO goes to press, the NCAA Championships at Solitude, Utah.

COWBOY SWIM TEAM PLACES SECOND IN WAC

Wyoming's improved swimming team fashioned a 6-3 overall record for the 1962-63 school year.

The Pokes were a perfect 2-0 against Western Athletic Conference foes before going into the WAC championships at Logan, Utah, March 7-9.

The Pokes won both the Wyoming and the Denver Relays. In other competition the Cowboys came out on top of Colorado Mines, Nebraska, New Mexico, Texas Tech, and Colorado. Co Ray Chinn's forces also downed the University of Arizona.

On the other side of the record, the Pokes lost meets with Utah, Colorado State and Denver.

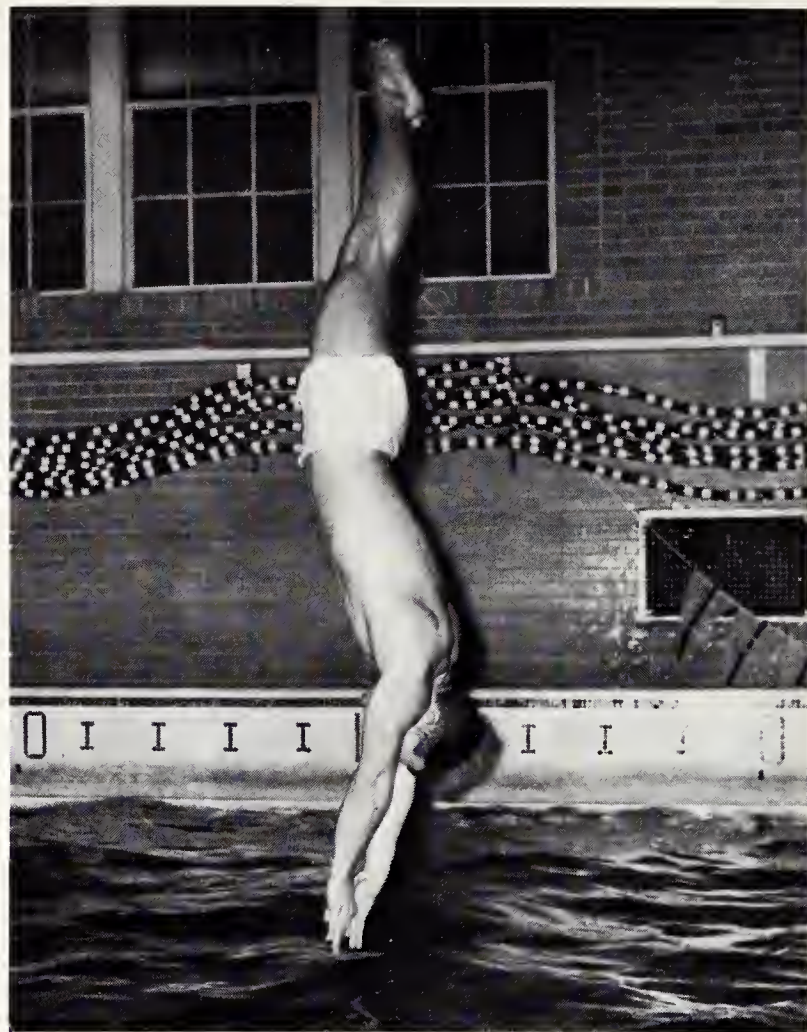

In the league meet the Cowboys came out second best. The Poke total of 120½ points was topped only by Utah's 188.

Wyoming managed to come up with two league champions in the meet: diver Tom Nye and butterfly swimmer Larry Meggers.

Wrestlers Miss Title

Wyoming's wrestling team just narrowly missed being crowned the first champions of the newly formed Western Athletic Conference.

BYU stole the title away from the Cowboys in an extremely close margin of 76-72.

The Cougars took two important victories from the Pokes at 123 and 130 pounds and then hung on for dear life to fight off a Wyoming surge.

Coach Ev Lantz's Cowboys did manage to come away from the matches holding onto four of the individual crowns, two second-place finishes and one third place division.

The Cowboys' great 157 pounder Dave Wight was voted the most outstanding wrestler in the tournament. Wight won his 157 pound title with a spectacular fall over a Utah grappler.

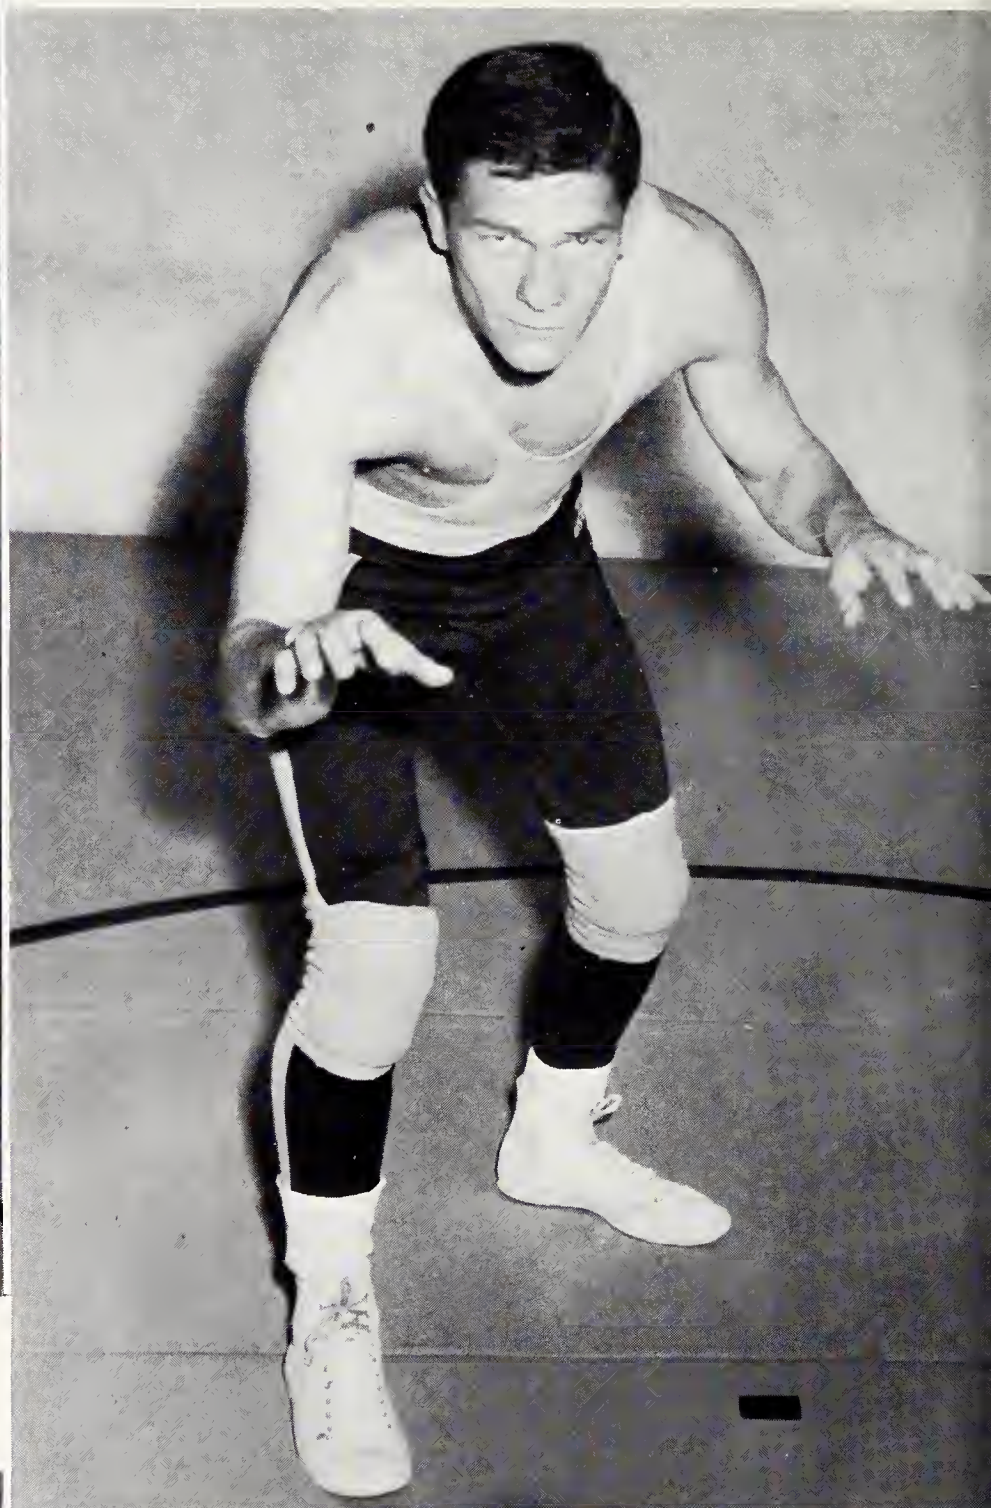

Wyoming picked up its first title at 137 pounds as Clair Argento came up with his third league crown in three years. Argento won two Skyline titles before Wyoming joined the Western Athletic Conference.

Dee Mickelson provided the Cowboys with their third title as he won all the marbles in the 167 pound division.

Wyoming's other championship came in the 191 pound class as Hugh Lowham walked away with the title.

Heavyweight Bill Bernatow was a surprise in the heavyweight class with a third place victory. It was the first time Bernatow had been used at this weight.

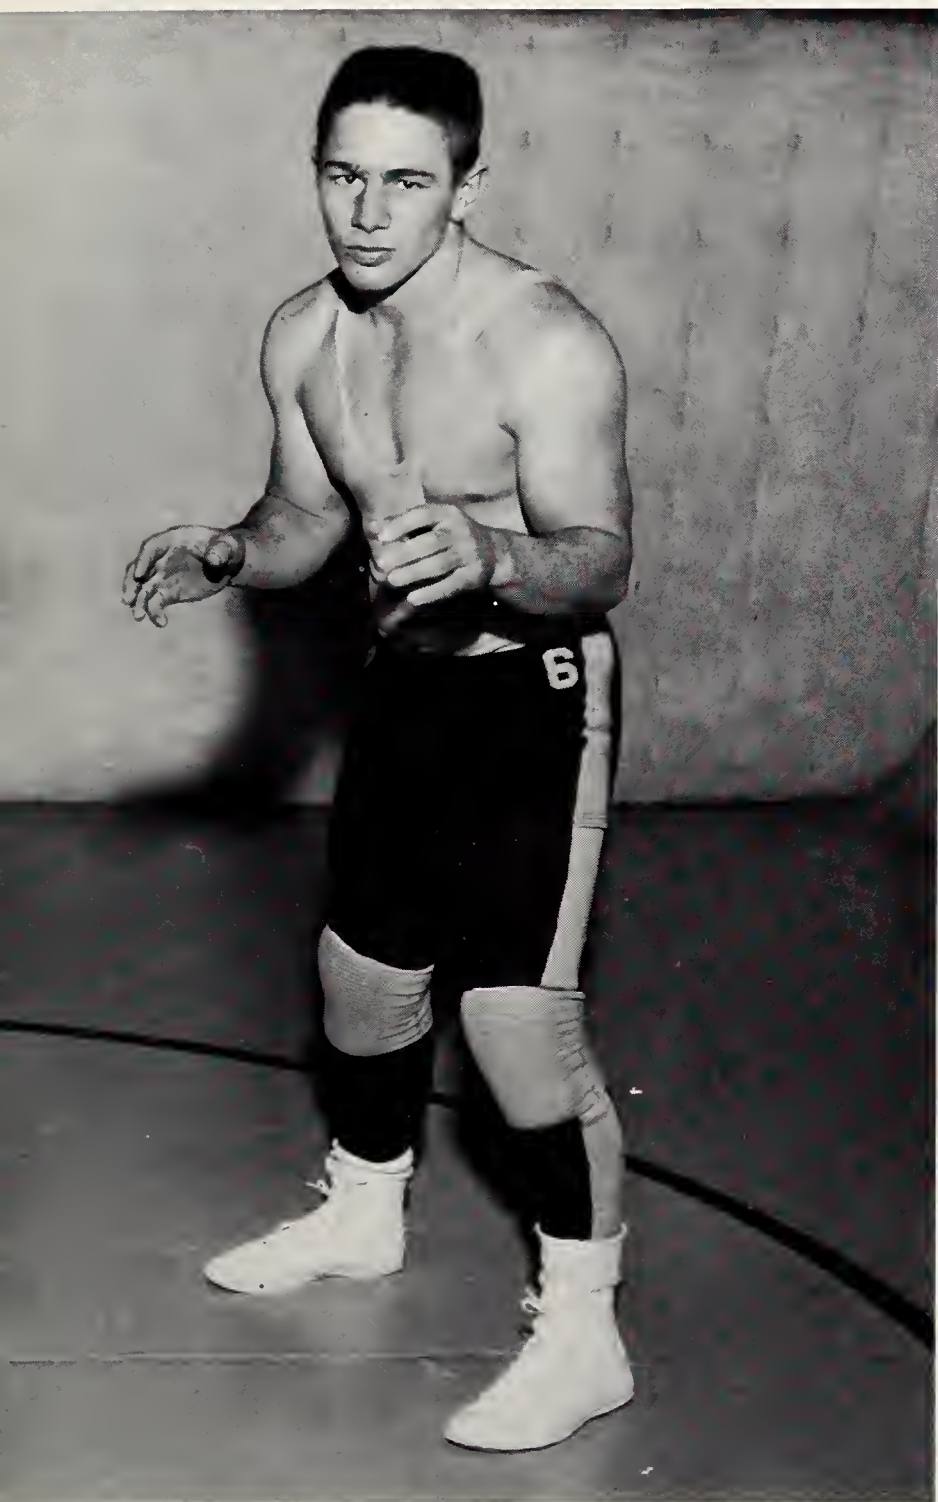

Wyoming's two second place finishes came from the efforts of Jim Gautz (123) and Dave Stone (130).

Gautz lost a tough decision to a BYU wrestler as did his teammate Stone.
 The Pokes were two and one in conference action going into the league wind-up. The only dual meet loss also came at the hands of Brigham Young.
 The Cowboys grapplers had an overall dual meet record of 9-6 for the school year.

This spring the Cowboys face one of their toughest and longest baseball seasons in history. The Pokes are also short of experience. Coach Bud Daniel can call on only four lettermen as he begins the season.

The Cowboys will be starting a 30 game schedule when they open against the always-powerful Arizona State Sun Devils.

Returning to duty for the Pokes will be all-conference first baseman, Cliff Osborne (who batted 302 last year), infielder, Dick Hawthorne (210), pitcher Don Cadman (2-2) and outfielder, Vince Zimmer who returns after a year's service with the Army. Daniel is anxious to see if a knee operation last fall will have any effect on Zimmer's abilities.

Daniel, who missed last season because of a tour with the National Guard must fill out five regular positions and almost completely rebuild a pitching staff. Daniel is depending for the most part on a talented crew of sophomores.

The infield seems to be blessed with plenty of good prospects.

Leading the new faces is Fred Brigham, a promising sophomore who shines both in the field and at the bat.

Other sophomores fighting for starting berths in the infield are: Mike Hulbert, Ron Salvagio and Mike Hurley. Hurley is a transfer from Centerville Junior College, in Iowa.

The outfield seems to be in pretty good shape although Zimmer is the only veteran. Good prospects in this department are sophs: Larry Taylor, Joe Glenn, Jim Jones and Darrell Warren, a transfer from Mesa Junior College, in Colorado.

Sophomores also dominate the mound. Cadman is the only hurler with varsity experience at this spot. Sophs looking for starting assignments are John VanAllen, Bob Shippy and Tom Wilkenson. All pitchers are right handers.

The campaign begins March 25, in Tempe, Arizona against ASU. The Cowboys have games with Western Athletic Conference foes Arizona, Arizona State and New Mexico but the contests won't count toward the league title. The race for the conference crown will be divided into northern and southern division with Utah and Brigham Young University. Winners of each division will meet late in the year to decide the league championship.

The Cowboy team won't be the only new thing about Wyoming baseball this spring.

The Pokes will be opening their home schedule in one of the most outstanding college baseball stadiums in the nation.

The new area, called Cowboy Field, is part of a three quarter of a million dollar sports complex located northeast of the university.

The field has a capacity of over 1,200 including concession facilities, rest rooms, press box and dressing rooms connected with the dug-outs.

Tennis Team in Action

Coach Bearley

Wyoming's tennis team faces the same problem that the rest of the Cowboy spring athletes have. The trip through the Southwest.

Competition from the southern schools is always some of the toughest college has to offer.

The campaign takes on added light this year for the reason that the always-rugged Arizona schools stand in the way of the conference crown since the formation of the Western Athletic Conference.

THINCLADS FACE RUGGED FOES

Coach John Walker of the track team has plenty of problems to cope with as his charges fight for supremacy in the newly-formed Western Athletic Conference.

In new conference foes, Arizona, Arizona State, New Mexico and BYU, the Cowboy thinclads should have plenty to handle.

In fact the conference as a whole should develop to be one of the toughest track leagues in the nation.

Golf Team Begins Season in Arizona

Wyoming's golf team runs into some stiff conference competition in the new WAC.

Coach Moe Radovich should have plenty of headaches if he hopes to come out on top of Arizona, Arizona State and New Mexico.

Highlight of the Poke golf season is a 10 day tour through Arizona with the conference championships being held at Tempe, home of Arizona State University.

Leading this year's team are Dave King, captain, and Ron Long. Rounding out the squad are Jim Marshall, John Volk, Chuck Lonabaugh and John Duffy.

End of the Trail

A LOOK at the Classes

As the members of the graduating class march toward the long awaited diploma, the realization of a year past sets all to reminiscing. Yet, at the same time the juniors call themselves "seniors", the sophomores realize that the half-way mark has been reached, and finally the freshmen look forward to a yearfull of even more interesting experiences.

To the Freshmen we say — welcome!

To the Sophomores — Good to see you back.

To the Juniors — End of a long summer.

To the Seniors — End of a long trail.

To the Graduates — The end in sight.
